

Chapter 972

"Don't you dare to point guns at my families," Henry's said. There was a chilling undertone from his voice that made people tremble.

Silver Visitor shouted, "Levin Jin and Holger Jin! You two have colluded with the foreign organizations to danger the alliance of Section Nine and frame Robert Lin, of Yinzhou Lins, of murder. I, bestowed by the power of Sword Welders, remove both of you from Section Nine. Effective immediately."

Holger's face was pale and lifeless.

"Sword Welders!" Silver Visitor shouted.

The Sword Welders, who had been denied entrance, all rushed in.

"Arrest Levin Jin and Holger Jin!"

Under Silver Visitor's command, the Sword Welders rushed toward Levin and Holger, disregarding the fact that Levin had lost one of his hands and seriously injured.

Holger's subordinates from Section Nine watched what happened to Holger without stepping in. Holger had violated the rules of Section Nine. Although they were his subordinate, they wouldn't break the rules for their former boss.

At this point, the truth had come out. The two Qins had made their own bed, and they had to lie in it. There was no murderer to blame.

The only suspect, Robert Lin, was framed.

The captain walked toward Henry and reached out his hand, "Mr. Zhang, it was a pleasure meeting you."

Henry laughed and shook the caption's hand, "It's my pleasure. If it wasn't for you, I could never lure Levin and his son out."

In fact, one of the biggest flaws of Holger's scheme was that he failed to consider Henry's status.

Because of Henry's prestigious status, when the incident of the Qin family broke out, the first thing that came to Henry wasn't the troubles from Holger, but the visit from the leadership of Section Nine.

Before Holger came to Henry with troubles, Henry had met with the leadership of Section Nine and the police department. Before Henry sneaked into Qin's villa and changed the chalk marking on the floor, he had given the police department a heads up.

Just now, the captain was cooperating with Henry to put on a show.

As for Robert's false death, it was also arranged by Henry. He had visited Robert the same night he sneaked into Qin's villa. Henry had guessed that someone would try to do something to Robert. So he called Silver Visitor over and arranged the rest.

Even at the time when Henry was locked up in the cell of Section Nine, he had correctly guessed everything that was happening outside of his cell and Holger's movement.

Henry had been pretending to take the punches because he wanted to wait for Levin to get involved. When Holger finally believed that he had successfully pinned the crime on Robert, Levin came out.

Because Robert was alive after everyone had believed he was dead, all the Lins burst into tears because of joy. They were desperate when they believed that Robert was gone.

After Robert comforted his family members, he walked over to the Qin Family.

"Master Qin, you have shown me great kindness. So I will let the incident go. But it evens out every favor you have done for me. From now on, I don't own the Qin Family anything."

Sylvia asked the question that had bothered her for a long time, "Grandfather, there were eighty billion yuan transferred out of the company's account. I know that only the chairperson has the access to the account, did you do it?"

"Yes," Robert nodded, "I'm the one who did the transfer. There's no need to elaborate on the details."

Sylvia nodded. Since Robert had said so, there was no need for her to worry about it. Nothing had been missed from the company's account. There were only eighty billion yuan on hold. After the incident was solved, the hold should be lifted.

Master Qin stared at Robert with a gloomy face. The whole scheme was elaborately planned by Master Qin. The eighty billion yuan from the Lins had been transferred to Master Qin's private foundation account. He canceled the account the moment he received the money. No one could trace where the money had gone.

As for the eighty billion yuan that Master Qin transferred to the Lins' account, the Lins would have to return them to the Qin Family after the Lins was charged with first-degree murder and embezzlement.

If everything could go as planned, Master Qin would have gotten eighty billion yuan by faking his death once. The Qin Family could easily change their names and become a new rich and powerful family because of the money. But after his plan went sour, Master Qin not only didn't get the eighty billion yuan but also was blamed for the scheme. No wonder he was in a bad mood.

Master Qin stared at Henry with hatred. If it weren't for Henry's interference, his plan would have carried out. The only consolation was that Master Qin was sure that he could walk away scot-free. Faking one's death was a vague thing to be criminalized. If the police department wanted, they could pin any crime on Master Qin, but Master Qin could also claim that he was just pulling a practical joke on old friends. He was confident that he could pull some strings and minimize his loss as low as one house. It was nothing for a big family like the Qin Family.

After the trouble had been solved, there was no reason for the Lins to linger any longer in Du City. They booked the next day's flight back to Yinzhou. The Lins had been planning to spend the new year in Du City, but at this moment, they wouldn't want to stay in this place for one more second.

The police took some pictures as evidence and left the villa.

Master Qin called someone after everyone had left. He said, "Transfer the money back to the Qin Family account."

A puzzled voice came from the phone, "Master, didn't you just call us this morning to donate all the money?"

A bad feeling suddenly flashed through Master Qin's heart, "When did I do that?"

"This morning, you sent us a message that asked us to donate the money." The person answered.

Such an answer made Master Qin's heart fall to the bottom of the abyss, "I'm not in the mood for jokes!"

"Master, I..." The man didn't know how to answer. Master Qin could feel his frustration through the phone.

Outside Qin's villa, Henry got into the car. The car was heading to the airport, and Henry was sitting in the car with a smile on his face.

Sitting by Henry, Sylvia looked at him with a curious face, "Honey, what are you so happy about?"

Henry answered with a bright smile, "I just gave the Qin Family a big gift."

Sylvia had a puzzled look on her face, "What gift?"

Sylvia knew Henry. Anyone who ever crossed Henry would have a miserable ending. He wasn't the kind of person who would send the Qin Family a real gift.

Henry pointed a finger and said, "A title of philanthropist."

"Philanthropist?" Sylvia muttered in repeat.

In front of the Qin Family's villa, more than a dozen cars swarmed in. People rushed out of the cars before the cars fully stopped. They were reporters with microphones and cameras. They all rushed into the villa.

"Master Qin, I have questions about your donation of all your eighty billion assets..."

Chapter 973

Countless reporters poured into Qin's villa, and they were all trying to dig out more information about the Qins' donation of all of their eighty billion yuan assets.

All the members of the Qin Family were stunned by what was happening.

Eighty billion yuan meant all of the assets of the Qin Family, which including real estate, stock, and luxury cars. Donating all of them equaled the ending of the family. All the Qins would be turned into nobodies, who couldn't even afford proper housing.

The Qins looked at Master Qin in confusion. They knew only one person in the family had the authority to make such a huge decision.

At this moment, Master Qin's face was pale, and his back was soaked with sweat. What was happening in front of him had completely exceeded his imagination.

Several cars from the government stopped in front of Qin's villa.

Government officials stepped out of the car with banners and flags in their hands. They were here to award the Qin Family for their philanthropic action.

Those officials couldn't stop smiling. What had happened within the area of their jurisdiction was a philanthropic action, that was huge enough to shock the whole world. It could substantially boost their career in politics. They walked up to Master Qin and said, "Master Qin, you are a great man. Please accept my salute."

The words "great man" sounded so harsh in Master Qin's ears.

Henry did all that without breaking a sweat.

For the world, the Qin Family was a tycoon that no one could touch.

But in Henry's eyes, to destroy the Qin Family, he had countless methods.

When discussing with Robert about the plan of faking Robert's death, Henry learned that Master Qin had asked Robert for a favor.

The so-called favor was obviously a con. But Robert chose to believe Master Qin out of deep respect. However, Henry thought otherwise. He asked Future to hack into the internet of the Qin Family and used Master Qin's account to send out the order, turning the shell foundation into a real one. Therefore, all of the assets of the Qin Family were donated.

A well-established family was brought down from the capital by Henry's simple words.

Henry did not spend more time on the Qin Family after everything was dealt with. He had much more powerful enemies to think about, who lurking in the dark and trying to cause worldwide chaos.

At the airport, a car stopped at the entrance.

The Lins got out of the car.

During their time in the capital, there were both good and bad things that happened.

The scheme of the Qin Family hit Robert hard. He would need a long time to recover after being conned by Master Qin, the person he respected the most.

As for Sylvia, she had found a good business partner in the capital.

Before entering the airport, Henry said, "Sylvia, you get on the plane first. There's something I need to take care of. I'll meet you on the plane. "

Sylvia opened her mouth but did not say a word. She knew that she couldn't help Henry, and she felt useless about it. Sylvia did not want to only be the receiver of Henry's help. She did not like it when she could only tell Henry to watch his back when Henry needed assistance.

Henry sensed Sylvia's concern. He patted Sylvia on the shoulder and said, "Honey, don't think too much. If it weren't for you, I wouldn't be what I am today."

Upon hearing this, Sylvia was stunned, "What did you mean?"

At this moment, Henry's cell phone rang. He told Sylvia that he would explain it later and walked off.

Watching Henry leaving, Nelson walked to Sylvia and asked, "Sylvia, who is Henry exactly? Today, he looked..."

Nelson witnessed that Henry leaped up four meters off the ground and brought down a house by a spear. He did not have too much chance to see such actions even from movies.

Sylvia smiled, "Dad, you are the one who introduced Henry to me. I should be the one to ask the question. Don't tell me he was the only option when you announced that the Lins was looking for a man to marry into the family?"

Nelson was surprised by Sylvia's answer. He thought for a while and said, "You just reminded me. After I made the announcement, there were a lot of people showed up, and some of them were really good. But when I called them, all of them denied me. Henry was the only one left. Now that you mentioned it, it does smell fishy."

Sylvia looked toward the direction where Henry was heading and murmured to herself, "You said that If it weren't for me, you wouldn't be what you were today. So did you come to my family specifically for me? What you want from me that could make you marry into my family and withstand so much disrespect?"

Meanwhile, Henry answered his phone. He spoke before the caller, "How is it? Did the Jins escape?"

"Just as what you predicted," Silver Visitor's voice came from the phone, "I asked the people to intentionally leave the Jins with a window of opportunity on their way back to the headquarters, and someone hijacked the escort team and took them away."

Henry snorted coldly, "They are not your problem anymore. I'll ask Future to locate them. You get back to the headquarters as soon as you can and have a conversation with the old man. I'm afraid there are other moles in Section Nine. You guys have a lot to do afterward."

"Got it."

Silver Visitor hung up the phone.

Henry called Future right after. In fact, he had already planted nano tracking devices on Levin and Holger back in Qin's villa.

"Henry, they are not far away from you. Their signals are transmitted from the high-speed railway station near the airport. I'm sending you the location."

"Keep an eye on both of them!"

Hanging up the phone, Henry took a look at the location map on his cell phone screen and headed toward the railway station.

As the most important city of Yan Xia, the capital's traffic was one of the busiest, especially around the time of the new year. There were not many people in the town, but the railway station was crowded. Travelers were standing in lines buying tickets, exchanging tickets, catching their trains, and taking a rest.

The moment Henry rushed into the railway station, he was surrounded by a lot of people.

A person passed him quickly and whisper into his ear, "Follow me."

Chapter 974

Henry glanced at the person but only saw his back. Henry followed him into a smoking area, which was also filled with people.

The person stopped and turned around in front of Henry. He was no other than Titan, another Sword Welder of Section Nine.

Titan smiled at Henry and whispered, "I have gotten the information about Levin Jin. First Brother had suspected that Levin had been doing something bad behind the back of Section Nine. First Brother just used this opportunity to expose him. He wanted to apologize to you for all the inconvenience. Section Nine is on to their whereabouts."

"Why did you bring me here?" Henry asked.

"Levin and Holger are the problems of Section Nine, and we will deal with them as an internal affair. Just as how you would deal with the problems of Radiant Island, we, too, would like to deal with the situation among ourselves. From the moment you handed them to Silver Visitor, you have put them under the jurisdiction of Section Nine. If you are still following them, you are going to put the reputation of Section Nine at risk."

Henry smiled and said, "In the end, you just don't want me involved?"

"Yes," Titan nodded without hesitation, "Rest assured. After betraying Section Nine, First Brother will not let them walk away easily. They are escorted to our vehicle while we are speaking. Please don't do anything reckless. Otherwise, the effect will be detrimental. If you don't trust us, you can follow our car."

Titan walked out of the smoking area after finishing his words.

Henry thought for a moment and quickly followed him.

"It seems that you still don't trust us. Although we don't title ourselves a savior, as Recluse Association does, Section Nine won't allow its own employee to break the laws. After all, we are affiliated with the government."

Titan put a heavy emphasis on the word government.

Henry shrugged, "Levin used to be affiliated with the government too."

"It's up to you," said Titan. Without explaining further, Titan walked toward the platform.

Henry frowned. He followed Titan.

During this time, Future kept updating the location of Levin and Holger to Henry. Henry realized that the location was where Titan was heading.

A few minutes later, Henry followed Titan to the platform. There weren't many people on this particular platform. Section Nine had used its authority to restrict the entrance of the platform to the general public.

Seeing an empty platform among all the other crowded spaces would give people an uncomfortable feeling.

On the platform, Titan suddenly raised his walking speed.

"Sir, they are over there!" A member of Section Nine was waiting on the platform. He ran over to give Titan the report.

"Don't put your guard down. Keep an eye on the surroundings. If they dared to hijack Levin and Holger under our noses, they definitely have some inside information. I'll take care of that." Titan gave the order.

The member of Section Nine nodded and then looked at Henry, "He..."

"He's fine," Titan said without a pause. He then started walking forward fast.

The platform was empty. Henry looked at the map on his cell phone. His location was right on top of the location Future sent to him.

Titan stopped his footsteps.

Henry followed Titan cautiously.

"They're right in front of us, but I'm not sure how many of them." Titan stared at a corner in front of him. Levin and Holger might have noticed Titan and Henry, too.

Titan put his hand on his belt and pull out a soft sword, which had been hidden there.

Titan whipped his wrist, and the Sharp Knife stood straight and still, giving out a cold light. Titan took a deep breath, turned his wrist, and lunged.

But Titan was lunging at Henry.

When Henry saw Titan was attacking him, he was not surprised. Henry looked like he was expecting it.

Titan lunged his sword toward the midpoint between Henry's eyebrows.

Henry reached out his hand and clamped the sword by his fingers. The sword stopped two centimeters before Henry's forehead.

Titan was surprised, "How could you..."

"You're a Sword Wielder. I thought you would know better than using this to kill me," Henry showed an angry look, "Let's deal with it the grown-up way. Whoever is hiding in the dark, show yourselves."

A cold light flashed through Henry's eyes. Right after, Titan's sword broke into pieces, and all the shards flew toward Titan.

Titan quickly let go of the hilt and took a few steps backward. Looking at the shards of his sword on the ground, he took a deep breath and said, "How could you?"

"Ha," Henry chuckled, "I have checked Holger. He is a high-profile moron. Holger's ridiculous behaviors would have ruined everything for his daddy if it weren't because of Levin's high status. On the day we were having the bonfire party, Holger sent the fire truck on us. Did you tell him anything before that, things such as you couldn't control me?"

Titan's body shook. He said exactly the words outside of the quadrangle courtyard to give Holger a hint. Henry had guessed it all.

Henry continued, "When I was holding Holger down, you showed up again. It was so obvious that you tried to flatter me and belittle Holger. Being humiliated in front of so many people, as stupid and arrogant as Holger, it was unlikely he could walk off without being mad."

The look of Titan gradually became relieved, "Just because of those you suspect me?"

"Of course not. Why do you think I can stay alive for so long?" Henry balled his hands in fists. Invisible Qi haloed around his fists.

Henry bent his legs and body as if a tiger was about to attack its prey. His eyes looked fierce, "I have a rule. In the underground world, I'd rather kill the wrong person than spare a suspect. From the moment I asked Silver Visitor to let Levin and Holger get away, I've made up my mind. I'll kill whoever comes to me."

Titan waved his hand, and then a couple of people showed up from the dark corners of the platform, including the person who just gave Titan's report.

Levin and Holger walked out too. They stared at Henry with hatred. Levin's right wrist was wrapped with gauze.

"Master Zhang, there are so many of us. Which one are you going to kill first?" Titan clenched his fists.

Henry said softly, "All of you."

Chapter 975

There were no less than forty people around Henry, and every single one of them was excellent at combat, especially Titan. As Section Nine's Master Sword Wielder, Titan's combat skills were as good as Silver Visitor's.

Silver Visitor was a top fighter who had reached Qi-concentrating Realm. Not so many people could defeat him in this era.

Titan sneered, "There are forty-seven of us. How many can you kill?"

"I've said it. All!"

Henry narrowed his eyes and charged at Titan.

"Kill him!"

Titan roared. All forty-seven people took their weapons and charged toward Henry.

The battle was breaking out. Henry alone fought against forty-seven combat experts, and one of whom had reached Qi-concentrating Realm. At first glance, Henry was outnumbered and in a desperate situation.

However, Henry had experienced so many similar battle situations. Titan had made a specific arrangement, so there were no outsiders on the platform. He wanted to end Henry, the legend of the underground world.

Levin, with only one hand, held a gun in his left hand. He was aiming at Henry at all times, and he wouldn't hesitate to pull the trigger once he got a good shot.

"Haha!"

One man one punch, Henry was laughing while fighting. Ever since he returned from Kunlun Mountain, he hadn't got the chance to fight with no holds barred. That day's fight relieved him of something that had been holding him back.

Fighting Henry, the more time had passed, the more worried Titan was. He heard the stories about how powerful the King of the City of Hell was. Titan knew what happened to the Zhu Clan. When the King of the City of Hell reappeared himself, he defeated all three big clans and made them his subjects. But Titan thought that the strongest fighters of the three clans only had reached Transformation Realm. With Qi-concentrating Realm, Titan had believed that he could defeat the King of the City of Hell.

The person in front of Titan was only in his twenties. For a normal fighter, it was the peak age for physical strength, but for the practitioner of Qi, the twenties was the age of beginners. Qi would boost the practitioner's physical strength in time. A Qi practitioner would easily defeat another who had ten years less of the experience. But what made Titan shocked the most was that he was having a hard time fight Henry. At this moment, Titan realized that the King of the City of Hell was way more powerful than what was told in the tales.

Titan was ten years senior of the King of the City of Hell, but Titan wasn't any stronger than him. If the King of the City of Hell could be so powerful in the twenties, it was hard to imagine what he would be like in ten years.

The thought made Titan's back soaked with cold sweat. In ten years, the King of the City of Hell would be one of the top fighters in the organization, and he might even exceed the Zodiac! "This person can't be existing in this world."

The more Titan thought of Henry's horrifying capacity, the more he wanted to kill him. His attacks were getting more aggressive.

Elsewhere of the station, travelers were getting to their trains, and no one knew that a deadly battle was ongoing on the platform they were about to step on.

The weather of January, cold and windy.

Numerous specialized Honda from Section Nine stopped in front of the entrance of the station. Countless Section Nine members rushed out of the cars the moment the cars were pulled over.

Travelers were confused when they saw so many people in uniform rushed to the platform, looking fierce.

When over a hundred Section Nine members reached the platform, they smell the scent of blood. With a precarious feeling, they ran toward the source of the smell.

When they reached the scene, their faces were all twisted out of disgust, even though they had well-trained by Section Nine of scenes such as this.

The blood of more than forty people had covered almost the entire platform.

Bodies were lying all around, and some were even pinned on the wall by the Sharp Knife.

One man was standing. The silhouette of his back alone gave the Section Nine members chill. They couldn't believe a human being could be able to create such a scene.

Impossible! That's a work of a devil. No human being could withstand a killing streak of forty livestock, let alone human beings.

"Make way!"

A roar came from the platform entrance. When Silver Visitor pushed through the crowd and saw the scene, he was also stunned.

On one of the pillars, Titan was pinned on it with countless of the Sharp Knife shards. Blood was gushing out from his mouth, eye sockets, ears, and nostrils. Titan, with his blooded eyes open, looked like a monster from the City of Hell. He was still conscious, but with so many shards pierced around his chest, no one could save his life.

Titan was pinned on the pillar, waiting for his death. He could feel his life slipping away. There was an unwillingness of accepting his fate in Titan's eyes. As a combat expert who had reached Qi-concentrating Realm, he shouldn't have died this way, and there were so many things he hadn't experienced.

Silver Visitor sighed and swung his right arm. A silver spear was shot out from inside of his sleeve and went straight toward the left side of Titan's chest.

"Pooch!" With a muffled sound, Titan died at the same time the spear was pierced through his chest. His head hanged lifelessly on his shoulders, and his limbs dropped.

As a fellow Master Sword Wielder, Silver Visitor had known Titan for years. Silver Visitor couldn't bear watching Titan's suffering.

Henry stood still quietly, with his back to everyone.

"Henry."

Silver Visitor called Henry gently and then walked toward him. When he was finally in front of Henry, Silver Visitor's pupils suddenly contracted.

Henry wasn't standing there by himself. Holger was with him, seemingly kneeling. But in fact, his legs below the knees were chopped off. Silver Visitor didn't see Holger because Henry blocked his eyesight.

Blood was gushing out from Holger's wide-opened mouth. His tongue had been cut off, and his face was full of cuts.

Henry was holding a Sharp Knife shard, paring the flesh off Holger's face.

Such a scene made Silver Visitor feel nauseous. He almost threw up.

Silver Visitor's calling didn't stop Henry from brutalizing Holger. He took a look at Silver Visitor and said nonchalantly, "What's up?"

Silver Visitor had never seen Henry like this. He looked like a total stranger to Silver Visitor. When Henry was looking at him, Silver Visitor felt as if he was in the City of Hell.

Chapter 976

Silver Visitor couldn't help but shudder, "Henry, it is over. Let him go."

Henry stared at Silver Visitor.

At this moment, Silver Visitor sensed a murderous intention from Henry's eyes! Fortunately, the tension in Henry's eyes gradually relieved. While Holger was still trembling in fear, Henry tossed the shard on the ground and muttered, "So soon?"

Sensing from Henry's tone, he wanted more.

Silver Visitor looked at Holger, and their eyes met. Silver Visitor could tell Holger only wanted to end his own life. So Silver Visitor took his silver spear off Titan and pierced it through Holger's heart.

"Boss!"

The sound of dense footsteps was heard. Judging from the sound, there were a lot of people running this way.

Wade and others pushed through the crowd of Section Nine people. When they saw all the dead bodies, their faces turned gloomy. They had been monitoring the GPS, when they noticed that Levin and Henry had stayed in one spot for a long time, they were worried and rushed over.

Wade gave Future a look.

Future nodded tacitly. She took out her cell phone and started to press buttons. Soon, a wave-shaped diagram appeared on her cell phone screen.

"Emotion level is normal."

Future breathed a sigh of relief.

The rest also relaxed. They did not care about the deads. They only cared about the well-being of Henry.

Silver Visitor waved to the people standing behind him. All the Section Nine members stepped forward to clean the scene. The train which was supposed to arrive at this platform in half an hour had rerouted to another platform. This one was closed to the public with the reason for under-construction.

In less than three minutes, Section Nine members had collected all the dead bodies. Dozens of people then started to wash the blood off the ground. Not for long, the platform looked as if nothing had ever happened. The only tell was the metal-like smell of blood to indicate that a storm had just happened here.

At the capital airport, Sylvia was sitting in her private jet. She rested her head on her hand and stared out of the window.

"Honey, what are you looking at?"

A gentle voice rang out behind Sylvia.

"Ah."

Sylvia was startled like a frightened kitten. She turned around and saw Henry. Sylvia suddenly turned ecstatic, as if she and Henry had reunited after a lifetime of separation. But in fact, Henry just left her for about one hour. "Honey, when did you come back? And you got changed?"

Henry shrugged and made up an excuse, "I walked by a construction site and got mud all over me."

He didn't want Sylvia to know that his old clothes were covered with blood.

"Henry, you're back. Shall we set out?"

Nelson came over and asked.

"If everyone is ready, let's leave this place. No matter how big the capital is, Yinzhou is our home."

The plane took off from the capital airport and headed straight for Yinzhou.

In January, before the new year, Yinzhou welcomed its first snow.

At this time, Yinzhou street actually turned busier. Before the new year, many people, who worked out of town, came back to Yinzhou, a small city.

There were only a few days before the new year. The snow made Yinzhou look a lot more festive.

Children, who wore thick winter coats, were playing in the snow. There was a snowman every dozen of meters along the street, making Yinzhou look lively.

There weren't many firework booths on the street anymore. Only a handful of licensed shops were allowed to sell those these days.

Nine o'clock in the morning, the city shopping center had already filled with people, shopping for the new year.

"Honey, let's buy this one. It's the same thing as the other one, but three yuan cheaper."

Sylvia ran all over the shopping center, comparing merchandise.

Henry followed Sylvia with a smile on his face, pushing their shopping cart. Who would believe that this woman, who was bargaining over three yuan, was the richest person in Yan Xia?

Sylvia's assets were five hundred billion yuan, which was twice the assets of the second richest person.

"Sylvia, the other one is cheaper. We have the membership card, which will take another five percent off."

Henry said with a smile.

"Ah!"

Sylvia gasped with revelation. She put down the merchandise she was holding and rushed toward the other one.

Henry watched Sylvia with a satisfactory smile on his face. It was the life he was longing for. But Henry knew he hadn't got many days left to live a life like this.

After the new year, he would have to leave for Recluse Association.

Coming out of the shopping center, Henry's hands were full of bags. Only strong as Henry could handle those, any average male wouldn't be able to.

"Honey, do we really need so much stuff?"

Henry put on a pouting face, "What did we get? Candies and fruits? We can buy them anywhere around our block."

"Haha."

Sylvia smiled slyly, "Honey, we can earn points shopping here. There aren't going to be any points for shopping around the block. If we can get two thousand points, we can get a free cooking pan. So please, and thank you!"

Henry had to give those shops credit for playing the people's minds so well. They walked to the parking lot. Henry put the shopping bags in the car, and they drove off.

While driving, Henry glanced at Sylvia, who was sitting shotgun, "Dear, which business is going to have an opening ceremony that you have to cut ribbons for?"

"It's just a restaurant today. We can go there at noon."

Sylvia looked at her wristwatch and replied.

Since the Lins sold the land, they had acquired numerous businesses. At this moment, the Lins held stock shares of thirty percent of all the businesses in Yinzhou, and none of the shares was less than ten percent. The Lins had held control of the business world here.

In Yinzhou, the Lins could destroy or support a business whenever they wanted to. No one could challenge their status here. Even the real estate market in Yinzhou fluctuated with every movement of the Lins. The land value would always increase where the Lins invested. Some people said that the Lins earned their profit as easily as printing money notes.

Ever since Sylvia had returned from the capital, she had been busy attending opening ceremonies, while the business of the Lins slowed down quite a bit.
