

Mission To Remarry Chapter 1003

Jack accepted her words of gratitude. With that, Roxanne bid him goodbye and prepared to step out of the car. To her surprise, she bumped into Lysa and the boys as soon as she opened the car door.

“Mommy!” Archie and Benny had just returned from their kindergarten, so they were excited to see Roxanne. In the meantime, they also noticed Roxanne did not drive home with her car.

If I remember it correctly, this is the one Mr. Damaris drove this morning.

Just as the boys were guessing who the owner of the car was, Jack’s head popped out from behind Roxanne, and he smiled at them. “Did you two just come home from your kindergarten?”

The children nodded slowly, feeling a little upset. Mommy said they were only going to work, but why is she home so late? And why is Mr. Damaris sending her home?

No matter how hard they looked, there seemed to be some intimacy between the adults. Immediately, the imaginary alarm in the children’s minds went off.

No way. We must help Daddy look after Mommy before they make up with each other.

Meanwhile, Roxanne knew what was on their minds the moment she saw their expressions. She could not help but feel exasperated.

home first. Please let me know gave a brief answer and drove

Roxanne spun around to explain, “My car wasn’t repaired completely, so imaginations would be running wild if she did not the kids asked, “Were you two working

Galloway was

They felt that he was

that, the boys

a wave of exasperation wash over her she had clarified things enough, including her relationship with looked more saw Mr. Farwell today!” Benny

when she heard

scene where Lucian

through her mind. All they wanted was to then, Benny cast her a piteous look. "Mr. Farwell doesn't seem to have recovered yet. Mommy, why don't you go over and help him? Essie is very