

Mission To Remarry Chapter 1007

"Where's Roxanne?" Lucian's voice finally rang out again after some time. Only then did Jack let out a chuckle. He kept quiet for a moment and finally uttered, "Ms. Jarvis is busy. I can help you convey your message to her instead."

A grim look instantly spread across Lucian's face. Roxanne's with Jack again, huh? And she even let him take care of such a private device?

When he thought of the purpose of his call, the atmosphere around him grew terrifyingly tense. Cayden, who was standing opposite Lucian, felt his heart sink when he saw the scowl that spread over the latter's face.

Cr*p. Who on earth answered the phone? Who can make Mr. Farwell so furious? "That won't be necessary," Lucian snapped coldly. "Since she's busy, then I'll call her later to talk to her myself."

Meanwhile, Jack arched a brow. "I'm afraid you might've misunderstood something, Mr. Farwell. I'm just working with Ms. Jarvis out here. If you don't believe me, I can get her to answer the call now."

someone beside him, "Get Dr.

closely with Roxanne. However, I hope you should at least have some self-awareness. Stay away from her unless it's related to work. I don't mind personally teaching hung up without waiting for a response from Jack, who eyed the playing a little trick on him. Who would've known Mr. Farwell would actually lose his cool and threaten me? Looks like Roxanne and Mr. Farwell are much closer than I thought. Or maybe he's thinking the same about that thought in mind, Jack cast a meaningful glance outside the tent where Roxanne's asked tactfully, "Mr. Damaris, should I still get Dr. Jarvis to brought him back to reality. Returning Roxanne's phone to where an act. Hearing that, the employee gave a brief response and returned to her seat. At the same time, Roxanne had you just now, and I answered it for you," Jack stated truthfully when he saw her coming in. Roxanne immediately froze