

Mission To Remarry Chapter 727

Chapter 727 Suppressing The News

After watching Madilyn leave with the children, Roxanne went upstairs into the study and checked the news on her phone.

The moment she went on Twitter, she saw the top trending topics. Pretty Doctor Pulled Strings To Advance Her Career. Jack Damaris Goes On A Late-night Date With A Pretty Doctor. Jack Damaris' Love Life Exposed...

One by one, the topics were either related to her relationship with Jack or casting doubt on her credentials as a partner in the Damaris family's project.

Just looking at those topics gave Roxanne a headache. Upon randomly clicking on one of them, she saw that it had almost a million views. Jack Damaris dates one of the doctors of the Damaris family's new project. Their suspected relationship was exposed...

Inserted underneath the title were a few blurry photographs. The first one showed Roxanne sitting opposite Jack in the restaurant. Both of them looked like they were chatting, while the table in front of them was filled with food.

The second picture showed them at the staircase of the restaurant entrance. Jack turned around to hold Roxanne's hand and they looked intimate.

Finally, the last picture was Jack dropping Roxanne off at her home. After going through them, a sense of gloominess hung over Roxanne.

were completely oblivious to the fact. As for

I knew there was something strange about her. How can someone so young be such her looks! Having said that, Dr. Jarvis is really pretty. If I were in the same position, a beautiful

comment that doubted her capabilities

name list was released, she never imagined

upon her credentials was the Jack while she was still seconds to regain her senses before answering news online." Jack was extremely apologetic over the phone. "Don't worry. I'll take responsibility by removing all the reassurances, the frowning Roxanne still had her demand an explanation from