

Mission To Remarry Chapter 733

Chapter 733 Waiting For Her Response

Jonathan smiled meaningfully when he heard his friend's words. "You can't come alone. The person my grandpa is helping is Dr. Jarvis, so you must bring her along."

Lucian responded with a light chuckle, "I plan on doing that." After engaging in small talk for a while longer, the two hung up. Lucian turned around and went back into the living room.

By then, Roxanne was done making dinner and was sitting at the dining table with the children, waiting for him to go over and eat together.

A hint of warmth flitted across Lucian's eyes when he saw the scene before him. He walked over and—upon noticing the extra plate and cutlery on the table—asked knowingly, "Did you prepare this for me, Ms. Jarvis?"

Roxanne nodded gently in response. "Since I'm troubling you to ferry Archie and Benny to and fro from school for the next few days, Mr. Farwell, you can have dinner at my place."

Before Lucian could respond, Estella threw up her hands joyfully. "Thank you, Ms. Jarvis!"

Roxanne smiled, feeling much more relaxed than before, as she watched the young girl's delight.

his brows but said nothing, merely dinner, the little girl was still reluctant not up the dining room, Roxanne left the kitchen to see Lucian sitting on the couch with his brows furrowed, his slender hands rubbing circles on his temples. It recent insomnia, she hesitantly stepped forward and said softly, "Let me give you a her before stating,

did not want her to be nice to

for a moment, she did not know how also could not figure out why she said those words just haggard face triggered a strange feeling in silent, waiting for

no

a pair of hands rested on darkened at her actions, but he still did not utter