Mission To Remarry Chapter 734

Chapter 734 Quick Turnaround

That very night, the Queen family announced that Roxanne was the one who had cured Alfred's sickness, resulting in the latter nominating her as a candidate for the Damaris family's project.

The internet went abuzz right after that. In a short span of time, those who were initially against Roxanne now sided with her, although there were some who still questioned her ability.

Roxanne was astounded to suddenly receive such an update before going to bed. She had once thought of asking Alfred to help clear the air, but she also didn't want to involve him in the whole ordeal.

Yet, the Queen family had decided to help her voluntarily. Thanks to that, the situation was now far more controlled compared to during the day, even if some remained doubtful of her.

Not wanting to disrupt Alfred's quiet time, Roxanne decided to dial Jonathan's number. The latter had just finished taking care of his family's PR errands when he answered Roxanne's call.

"I just saw the announcement made by your family. Thank you for speaking up for me, Mr. Queen," the woman said with gratitude.

thank me. To be honest, I took a lot of risks over this matter. I wouldn't and she thought back to the similar tone he had used during the medical consultation back at the thanked him under the assumption that he had helped her when it was, in fact, Lucian's decision all he do

look for you?"

came through the phone instantly. "That's right. Well, I did consider taking action, but it was Lucian's personal phone call that really convinced me to make the announcement. So if you want to express your gratitude, I'm not the only one you within Roxanne's

Mr. Queen? He was asking him to make an appearance and help me. He probably would've continued to keep this from

at responded, concealing her mixed emotions. "I'll thank Old Mr. Queen in person with a

after hanging up, Roxanne opened up her chat conversation with Lucian, but even after staring at her screen for God knows how long, she couldn't figure