

Mission To Remarry Chapter 738

Chapter 738 No Evidence

Lucian's frown deepened when he heard the boys, and he eventually decided to hold his tongue. As the children looked on eagerly, Lucian sat down at the table and took a sip of the drink made by Archie and Benny.

Estella, too, happily joined her father and drank a mouthful until she ended up with a milk mustache. "Archie, Benny, you guys are amazing!" she exclaimed.

Wow! I've never even made breakfast for myself before! Amused by the look of admiration on Estella's face, Roxanne chuckled and promptly handed her a piece of tissue.

Archie and Benny, on the contrary, were feeling mighty proud of themselves after the little girl's compliment. "You could've told me if you didn't have time to prepare breakfast. I can always take the kids out to eat," Lucian said in a low voice.

Right there and then, Roxanne suddenly remembered why she had wanted to call earlier and turned her attention to Lucian. "I've already settled everything on my end, Mr. Farwell. I won't have to trouble you again."

As for what she was referring to, the two of them knew perfectly well while the three kids stayed in the dark. All the kids knew was that they'd no longer be able to attend school together, which left them sorely disappointed.

Puzzled, Lucian furrowed his brows and glanced at Roxanne.

haven't even read the online discussion. Did the Roxanne said with lent a helping hand, Lucian began to feel his all, Harvey was a more persuasive and compelling figure in the medical

in front of the

her family since she figured there wouldn't be that, the three children piled into her car and followed dropped the kids off with Pippa and watched them walk

look at Lucian.

man cocked

lot, but I also made sure to keep everything on the down low. How did “Moreover, if it weren't for the pressure from Farwell Group,