

Mission To Remarry Chapter 749

When Aubree revealed her true colors and put on a frightening expression, Estella jumped in fear and wanted to go to Lucian. However, her wrist was grabbed by Aubree, and she couldn't break free.

Staring coldly at the girl, Aubree uttered, "If you don't want to suffer, you better obey me! Don't piss me off, do you understand?" Inside the bathroom, Lucian was taking a shower when he called Roxanne.

He knew how much of a workaholic she was, so he was worried Roxanne might not be there when Cayden sent Estella over. The little girl would throw a temper tantrum if she didn't get to see Roxanne. That was why he was calling her, to make sure she was around.

Thankfully, she picked up the call rather quickly. "What's the matter, Lucian?" Roxanne sounded groggy. She might have just woken up, or she was woken up by the call.

Amused by her sleepy tone, Lucian apologized softly, "Did I wake you up? Sorry."

in bed. "It's okay. I should be waking up at this time, anyway. I think I overslept a little. Why are you calling me early have time during the morning for that? If it's not out her preferred way of interacting between the

"Got it. I'll be was astounded when he heard her agree to it readily. Raising his eyebrows in surprise, he hummed in response and told her the estimated time that Estella would arrive before ending hanging up, Lucian stepped out of the bathroom and glanced at his daughter, who was still at that moment and was shocked to see Lucian emerging from the bathroom. Hastily, her expression changed as she greeted him she pestered him last she explained cautiously, "I saw Essie standing here, so I thought I should come over and talk with her." Then, she flashed a fake smile at the girl. "Isn't that right, her lips, Estella glanced at the woman before wordlessly running toward her father, look in Lucian's eyes darkened as he regarded his daughter's restless demeanor. He then glimpsed the woman