

Mission To Remarry Chapter 772

“What’s the matter, Dr. Jarvis?”

Colby had just fallen asleep when he was jolted awake by Roxanne’s call. When he glimpsed the caller ID, he immediately answered the call.

Hearing his voice, Roxanne furtively breathed a sigh of relief. She hadn’t the time to exchange pleasantries with him, so she cut to the chase. “If it isn’t too much trouble, can you make a trip to the research institute right now?”

At that, Colby sat up from the bed. “Is there anything important?”

While saying that, he had already started changing without waiting for her reply.

He knew that there must be something crucial that she was calling at that hour, but he wanted to know the specifics.

Roxanne glanced at the three children in the room, her voice grave. “I have kids here who developed an allergic reaction due to bacterial infection. The spray we formulated back then might be effective, but I’m really needed here. As such, I can only seek your help.”

she added, “Forget it if it’s too had already gone downstairs after snagging a coat and draping it over himself.

gratefully, saying, “I’m really sorry for troubling you first. I remember that the symptoms of such an allergy can get exceedingly serious. Take care of him again before hanging up the had already flushed bright red. The red spots on Archie and Benny’s bodies had also spread to first time they had such a severe illness. Although they were already sufficiently inundated Roxanne at the expressions on their faces. But still, she gritted her teeth and soothed them. “Don’t be afraid. It’s just a bit cause her concern, the children nodded

back to them,

as soon as possible, she couldn’t help feeling anxious. Thus, of her retreating back, Lucian’s gaze darkened. He shifted his eyes to Archie and Benny instantly patted themselves on the chest bobbed his head at them