

Mission To Remarry Chapter 860

Roxanne left Herbscape Group and drove straight to the Farwell residence. Less than twenty minutes later, her Mercedes-Benz slowly rolled to a stop in front of the manor entrance.

She rang the doorbell frantically, and it was not long before Catalina answered the intercom. "Mrs.—" Catalina began without thinking when she saw the person on the screen. However, she quickly caught herself and changed what she was saying. "Ms. Jarvis."

Too worried about Estella crying, Roxanne had no time to pay attention to the little details. "Hurry up and let me in, Catalina. How's Essie?"

Catalina sighed inwardly when she saw how anxious Roxanne looked. "You're too late. Mr. Lucian has taken Ms. Estella out." Roxanne's expression froze when she heard that reply.

I thought Lucian only said that in a fit of anger. I can't believe he'd actually be so cruel. Since Essie hasn't seen me, she must still be bawling her eyes out.

asked

Lucian's parting instruction made her shake her head. The light in Roxanne's eyes went out, and a wave of regret washed over her. If for Estella when Roxanne did not promise to come over immediately, could do so. Thanks to Catalina's out her phone from her bag, pulled up Lucian's number, and made the call. However,

She tried calling again immediately, at me. I'm afraid he probably won't pick up my calls for now. As the realization dawned on her, guilt welled within her. All I whenever the phone rang as they made their way to James'

as his phone rang. Despite hearing Estella's sobs, he denied