

Mission To Remarry Chapter 869

“Do you want me to keep this medicine for you?”

Jack didn't take those kids seriously. Instead, he turned around and threw the question at Roxanne.

Roxanne frowned as she pondered it for a while. “It's better to send it to the research institute. There's no point in keeping this with me.”

“Then I will need you to come with us,” Jack said.

Hearing that, Archie and Benny tensed up. The grips on the hem of Roxanne's dress tightened.

Just when she was about to agree to his request, she noticed the boys' unusual reaction. She glanced at them with concern.

The boys looked at their mother. “Mommy, aren't you unwell?”

It was only after the boys contemplated for some time that they finally came up with those words.

Roxanne's expression changed slightly. Her eyes grew gloomy as she thought of Estella.

“Forget it if you're not feeling well. I'll just tell the staff over there,” Jack said.

and shook her head with a smile on her face. “It's better for me to and decided not to be polite they already said that she didn't have to you.” Jack got into the car first. “I'll wait for you in she returned to the entrance of the mansion with

Benny tugged at the hem of Roxanne's boys' hair apologetically. “I'm going to the research institute and will slight crease appeared between Archie's eyebrows. “But what if Essie words hit Roxanne right moment, she was hesitant about surely feel more upset if she doesn't see

Daddy will be mad as the kids were more worried to please. As for Lucian, it know

second thought, she felt that the chances Lucian would bring batch of medicine, so she couldn't afford to see something go wrong