

Mission To Remarry Chapter 874

Sonya did not expect him to say such words. Elias had consistently backed her even though he had not explicitly stated his stance throughout the years.

Yet now he had made his stance to support his son. "Are we going to let Aubree down after all the years she has waited?" Sonya tried to persuade him.

Elias knitted his brows, and a hint of helplessness appeared in his eyes. Both of them are my family, yet their opinions are clashing now.

After a moment of silence, Elias sighed and uttered, "You guys can do whatever you want. I'm not good at dealing with situations like these. I still have things to deal with at the company. You can have lunch yourself later."

Since he had to deal with work, Sonya could only send him to the door reluctantly. Although she felt slightly dissatisfied, she still reminded gently, "Come back early tonight. Don't wear yourself out."

Elias nodded and drove away. Just as Elias' car disappeared from sight at the entrance of the door, the butler's voice rang beside her ear. "Mrs. Farwell, you seemed to have received a message on your phone."

Sonya turned around in confusion after hearing this. Her heart sank when she tapped on the screen and saw the unknown number.

even though the same person who sent me the photos yesterday, and they're sending me more photos to the couch and tapped could be seen chatting happily in yesterday as those photos were taken in front of standing

these two children and knew that they were Roxanne's getting along well

photo, the atmosphere around them seemed

and she could not help but think about the discussion on the internet in a row, Roxanne had been with

Furthermore, they looked intimate.