

Mission To Remarry Chapter 903

“Daddy.” When Roxanne, Archie, and Benny had disappeared from sight, Estella lifted her eyes and stared at her father.

An error occurred. Please try again later

At her voice, Lucian slowly retracted his gaze and lowered his eyes to meet her gaze. “Yes?”

Puffing up her cheeks, Estella demanded in a huff, “Did you make Ms. Jarvis mad again?”

Tonight, Ms. Jarvis didn’t talk much to him. No matter how hard Archie, Benny, and I tried, she hardly glanced in his direction.

Following that line of thought, frustration swamped her.

He has already promised me that he’d forgive her and never make her mad again, but he didn’t keep his word!

Discerning her thoughts, Lucian frowned and was just about to answer when he abruptly remembered James’ advice in the next heartbeat.

Thus, he went silent for a few seconds before replying, “We have some conflicts at work.”

Estella heard the word “conflicts,” her face with his brows furrowed. “Both of us have to work, so it’s inevitable that

why

question had words eluding

it be that you haven’t forgiven

Lucian heard that she was placing before his lips twitched cryptically, and he solemnly cast her but he’s still exceedingly patient with me every time he returns home. So, was it Ms. Jarvis who brought work stress why adults couldn’t draw a line between work and private life, much less fathom even then, she’s always in shot daggers at her father. “Even so, you’ve got to coax felt utterly

out, but she’s still siding hailed a taxi by the roadside really exhausted after interacting with Lucian earlier, so she