

Mission To Remarry Chapter 943

Just as Roxanne was trying to keep her composure and leave the place as soon as possible, a few painful groans sounded from the backseat.

As panic swirled within her heart, she couldn't control herself, and her limbs trembled from anxiousness. Before Roxanne could snap out of her daze, her car was speeding right toward a huge tree.

Her mind immediately went blank. Just as the car was about to crash into it, she finally snapped back to her senses and lifted her foot, which was flooring the gas pedal.

However, it was too late. The car slammed into the tree trunk, shaking violently at the impact. Immediately after that, the car engine died.

Estella and Benny, who were already experiencing terrible pain in their stomach, cried out loudly when they felt the violent jerk of the car. Tears flowed down their cheeks at the agony. "Mommy, are you okay?"

Archie had witnessed the entire thing play out. He immediately comforted Estella and Benny, then checked on Roxanne in concern. Roxanne's hands were still shaking in fear.

Roxanne could only stare at the giant tree in front of her, which was still shaking due to Something bad would've happened if she hadn't regained her senses in good care of them, but now she couldn't even bring them back home when they were already feeling unwell. She did not get a response to his question, he raised his voice in panic and urged, "Let's go, breath to calm herself and assured him, the car engine rumbled before shutting off again. Her heart sank, and she tried to start the even respond. Roxanne had no choice but to give up. It seemed Estella and Benny were still sobbing uncontrollably. Upon listening closely, Roxanne could along with their sobs. "I'm getting off the car to take a look," she said. As soon as she finished and examined her vehicle for a while, but she couldn't figure hood of her car dejectedly. She then turned and mother's despondent mood. However,