

Mission To Remarry Chapter 977

“Be good, Essie. Let me carry you. Don’t cry,” Sonya comforted patiently. Unexpectedly, the more Sonya consoled Estella, the harder Estella cried. Estella was crying so hard that she could barely catch her breath.

Upon noticing that things had gotten out of hand, Sonya reluctantly passed Estella to Lucian. Estella’s wails soon grew weaker again and gradually turned into whimpers after she got into Lucian’s embrace.

The moment Lucian noticed how aggrieved Estella looked, he knew exactly what had happened. I wonder what ruthless things my mother did in order to bring Essie out of Roxanne’s house.

“You’ve spoiled her.” Sonya was dissatisfied. “Don’t you remember how heartless that woman was back then? Why do you still want Essie to get near her? I told you countless times to stay away from her! Why wouldn’t you listen? Are you happy now? Essie doesn’t even want to return to her own home anymore!”

Estella didn’t know what Sonya meant, but she could feel that Sonya was badmouthing Roxanne to Lucian.

Knowing that, Estella tugged at Lucian’s shirt and whined, “I want Ms. Jarvis...”

infuriated when she heard that. “Why would you want her? She finish her sentence, Lucian interrupted, “Catalina, bring and reached out to carry

Catalina didn’t know if Estella would allow complaints. When she saw Catalina reaching out to her, feeling helpless and heartbroken when she felt Estella sobbing silently in her arms. This was startled by Lucian’s aura, and she ended up stunned for a few seconds. She only regained her composure after Catalina brought expression turned increasingly grim by from Essie forever? You can only keep her in the dark for so long. Don’t you think once Essie grows up she’s going to was giving Lucian a headache. “As I said, there must be some misunderstandings. I just haven’t