

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2061

Chapter 2061

For the next few days, everything was calm and quiet.

Francesca woke up early every day to practise her martial arts, refine her poisons and concealed weapons, and only went to William's place at three or four in the afternoon.

In the past, when she went there, apart from the treatment, she would also enjoy the flowers and tea with William and talk about medicine, but now, she was always in a hurry to get there, and then rushed back home after the treatment.

When William asked Francesca if something had happened at home, she simply said that she had a lot of work to do at the orphanage.

William didn't ask any more questions, except that every time he saw Anthony driving outside the yard to pick her up, his eyes became complicated.

"That Anthony really, like a heel, comes over every night and waits, Ms.Felch gets a call from him and leaves right away, without finishing a cup of tea." Robin could see what was on his master's mind.

"Anthony and Francesca are childhood friends, like brother and sister, he's just concerned about her." William's tone seemed calm.

"Brother and sister? Why did I hear the Nacht family's bodyguard say that Anthony is Dr.Felch's ex-boyfriend?" Robin was a little puzzled.

"It's probably because Francesca used to let Anthony be a shield on purpose in order to reject Mr.Lindberg." William smiled faintly, "Francesca wouldn't like Anthony."

"That too." Robin hastily agreed, "Anthony has mediocre qualifications, not even a tenth of His Highness! How could Ms.Felch like him?"

"Hmm." William agreed with Robin in a rare moment, "Humans are all naturally attracted to strong creatures, no one is an exception!"

"That's right, no one is your competition except Mr.Lindberg." Robin exclaimed.

"Speaking of Mr.Lindberg, he doesn't seem to be making much noise lately." William was a little puzzled, "It's been so many days and he hasn't contacted Francesca or come to see her. What's he been up to?"

"Could it be that he's given up?" Robin guessed, "A man as arrogant as him must not be willing to bow down for love."

“It shouldn’t be that easy to give up.” William thought otherwise, “It’s because he’s arrogant by nature that he doesn’t fall for someone easily, and once he does, it’s not so easy to let go.”

“Then why doesn’t he come to Ms.Felch?” Robin couldn’t understand, “It’s been almost twenty days since Ms.Felch returned to S Nation, and he didn’t even come when the two of them were in such a mess, if it were you, you would probably have chased him over at once.”

“I’m an idle man.” William laughed, “He’s just finished settling Frank, I’m afraid he has an endless list of things to attend to, and at times like this, naturally, business comes first.”

“Well, that means it’s still not like enough.” Robin picked up on that.

“Well, if it were me, I would never do that to Francesca.” For once, William agreed.

“All said and done, it’s just not like enough, if it were me, I would never do this to you.”

In the car, Anthony said the same thing.

Because Sloan had come to say goodbye to Francesca, saying that he was about to go to the airport and depart for Xendale.

Francesca said, “Have a safe trip”, and then let Anthony drive away.

Anthony felt that Danrique was really insincere. He had obviously made Francesca angry, but instead of coming to apologise, he let his subordinates say so, and now he even transferred his subordinates away.

Anthony was indignant, so he said some angry words.

Francesca looked calm and just said, “Let’s pretend it never started, I didn’t suffer any losses anyway.”

“No losses?” Anthony heard the point at once, “Meaning, you and him haven’t that..”

“Of course not.” Francesca glared at him.

“That’s good, then.” Anthony was overjoyed.

Francesca didn’t say anything, just looked out the window, the surface was calm. Her heart was actually complicated hard to say.

Now that even Sloan had been transferred back, it seemed that Danrique was really going to give up on Francesca. In the end, he just doesn’t love her that much.

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2062

Chapter 2062

Francesca originally listened to Layla's advice and intended to take the initiative to contact Danrique and communicate properly, but she didn't expect that Danrique would have given up before it was too late to communicate.

Thinking about this, Francesca couldn't help but feel a little sour. she hated herself like this, very spineless.

She repeatedly reminded herself in her heart that she absolutely must not think about Danrique anymore.

Cut it off and never have anything to do with it again!!!

"Brother Sloan, Ms.Felch didn't seem to react much just now, isn't she angry?"

Not far away, the bodyguard who was watching Francesca's car leave from the rear-view mirror asked curiously.

"Even if Ms.Felch is angry, she won't show it." Sloan laughed bitterly, "She always likes to pretend to be strong."

"So what should we do now?" the bodyguard asked, "Should we retreat first?"

Sloan: "Withdraw and wait for those two to show themselves!"

the bodyguard: "Understood!"

Sloan evacuated with his men, then dialled Sean's number, and soon the call was answered, "Hello!"

"Brother Sean, I've just met Ms.Felch, we're evacuating now."

"Find a hidden place to hide, and reveal yourself when Chrono and his accomplices appear." Sean instructed, "Also, has the bug been installed yet? It won't be discovered by Ms.Felch, will it?"

"I installed it in Anthony's car and on the bottom of his shoes, and his mobile phone is also monitored, so it should be fine." Sloan said, "As for Ms.Felch, I didn't dare to touch it."

"Who is Anthony?" Sean froze for a moment and immediately remembered, "That former brother?"

“Yes, that’s him.” Sloan immediately said, “He comes to pick up Ms.Felch every day, and seems to live with her, the two are very close, like a family.”

Sean weakly looked at Danrique across the table, in an instant, his face sank, there was already a William, and now there was an additional Anthony.

Also live together, daily raoming with him really couldn’t see it.

“I reckon that the two of them are not brother.”

“All right, let’s follow the plan first.”

Sean was afraid that Sloan was saying something that would irritate Danrique, he quickly interrupted him and changed the subject –

“Before, with your covert protection, Chrono and his accomplices didn’t dare to show themselves, now that you are hiding, I guess they will show themselves soon, when the time comes, we will kill these two people in one go, and you will then pick up Ms.Felch and return to Xendale.”

“Yes, understood!”

.....

Hanging up the phone, Sean carefully looked at Danrique: “Sir don’t be angry, I guess this matter is a misunderstanding.”

“Misunderstanding? Misunderstanding what?” Danrique sneered, “Are you saying that she and William are a misunderstanding, or is it with Anthony?”

Sean didn’t know how to take it anymore, he could only change his words, “I just think that Ms.Felch is not that kind of person.”

“Being with another man in the middle of the night and now living with her ex, not that kind of person, then which kind of person is it?” The more Danrique thought about it, the angrier he became, “This bltch, let me see her and I’m dead!”

Sean held his breath, not daring to speak, nor did he know how to advise.

“If things weren’t not taken care of over here, I really want to fly over and clean her up right away.”

Danrique was now a bit restless and could not wait to fly over to Francesca immediately.

“This is a critical moment, whether or not we can hold Adams and the three great clans down depends on this time, you must not go.”

Sean hurriedly advised, “Gordon had already departed for S Nation an hour ago, when he has finished with Chrono and his accomplices, he will soon return with Ms.Felch.”

“You tell Gordon to escort them all back to me!” Danrique ordered forcefully.

“Yes.” Sean immediately relayed the order.

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2063

Chapter 2063

The rest of the day went well, but Francesca was a little distracted, always worried that something had happened to the orphanage. So she would quietly go to the orphanage every morning to make her rounds, and only when she saw that everything was going well did she go home and sleep.

So, she didn't sleep well every night and was a little drained when she went to William's place.

William was worried about Francesca and asked her what had happened and if she needed any help, but she just said she had been a bit busy lately and said nothing else.

That evening, Francesca was about to take a bath and rest, but somehow she suddenly felt a bit uneasy.

She was about to call and ask about the orphanage when a call came in first: “Hi, long time no see!”

“Chrono?” Francesca's heart trembled, Chrono was actually not dead.

“Surprised, aren't you?” Chrono laughed eerily, “You thought I was dead, didn't you? Sorry to disappoint you.”

“What do you want?” Francesca questioned coldly.

“You have so many people protecting you, what can I do?” Chrono sneered mockingly, “I'll just have to ask you to listen to the sound of the explosion.”

As he said that, a loud “bang” came from the other end of the phone.

Francesca was shaken and hurriedly went to the window to check. Sure enough, a haze of light appeared in the distant sky and the sky was ablaze with fire.

Something had happened to the orphanage!

“Well? Does that sound good?” Chrono asked with a sneer on the other end of the phone, “Do you still want to hear it?”

“You crazy, crazy person!” Francesca roared in agitation, “Come at me if you can, don’t hurt the children!”

“I wanted to come at you, but you have too many people protecting you, and there’s nothing I can do about it.” Chrono laughed sardonically, “By the way, are the other two orphanages far from you? Can you hear the explosions over there from home?”

“Don’t you mess around.”

“Tsk, you’re panicking.” Chrono laughed, “If you don’t want to hear it, bring your passport and meet me at the airport.”

“I’ll be right there, and don’t lay a hand on the orphanage again.” Francesca was very agitated, “Those children are as innocent.”

Chrono interrupted her, “Half an hour, if I don’t see you, then I’ll just have to let those little kids go to heaven.”

“You...” Francesca was about to speak when Chrono hung up the phone.

Francesca couldn’t care less. She casually put on some clothes, stuffed her passport and wallet into her bag, grabbed her car keys and rushed downstairs.

As she passed the lab, she suddenly remembered Layla’s words and rushed in to get some homemade drugs and concealed weapons and stuffed them into her bag, then hurriedly drove away.

At that moment, Anthony, wearing a pair of flowered shorts, rushed out in a frenzy, “Francesca, something happened at the orphanage?”

“Go to the orphanage right away, go quickly.”

Francesca urged Anthony eagerly, while starting the car.

“Where are you going?” Before Anthony could finish his words, Francesca sped away in his car.

Anthony quickly went back to his room to change his clothes, then rushed to the orphanage with his bodyguards.

Before leaving, he took the mini pistol Layla gave him with him and stuffed it into his pocket in a panic.

On the way, Anthony received a call from the orphanage. It turned out that the explosion was in the car park next to the orphanage, and the children in the orphanage were in shock and were now crying and in a mess.

They had already called the police.

Anthony asked if there were any casualties among the children, and the staff said that no casualties had been found for the time being, as the car park was some distance away from the orphanage, and although the aftermath of the explosion had affected it, it would not hurt the children.

Anthony breathed a sigh of relief and told the staff to protect the children, saying that he would be right there.

But Francesca did not answer the phone, so Anthony had to send her a message, "The explosion was in the car park next to the orphanage, the children are fine!"

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2064

Chapter 2064

The place where Francesca lived was far away from the airport and one had to speed up and run all the way to get to the airport within half an hour.

Otherwise, that madman Chrono might do something else.

Her heart clenched together as she thought of the exploding orphanage.

When Anthony called, she was avoiding a large truck, and it wasn't until she was on the highway and everything was stabilized that she called back-

"Hello!"

"Where are you?"

It was noisy on Anthony's end, and the phone was full of children's cries.

"I'm at the airport, how's the orphanage? How many casualties are there?" Francesca's heart clenched.

Anthony: "The explosion was in the nearby car park, not the orphanage, a few children fell off the elevated bed and got hurt because they were in shock, the rest are fine."

"The car park?" Francesca froze, "It's good the children are okay."

Francesca was relieved. It seemed that Chrono still had a shred of conscience and hadn't really touched the children.

However, if she hadn't arrived at the airport on time, she was afraid that the last remaining shred of her conscience would be gone.

"Where are you? Come here quickly." Anthony was very anxious, "Chrono must be trying to threaten you with the children's safety."

Before Anthony could finish his words, the phone disconnected.

Francesca thought it was because Anthony was too busy and had accidentally hung up or the signal was bad, so she didn't care.

With her bag on her back and her phone in hand, she quickly ran towards the airport.

But the passengers in the hall were coming and going, but there was no sign of Chrono.

Francesca was feeling puzzled when she suddenly felt a chill approaching behind her, and she immediately turned around.

A girl dressed all in black, wearing a duck-tongue cap and mask stood behind her, with a pair of narrow eyes, staring at her with a ghostly coldness.

Francesca narrowed her eyes and locked eyes with her, "It's you?"

The assassin who had posed as a doctor at the hospital last time, Chrono's accomplice.

"Good eyesight!" The female assassin smiled coldly, "The tickets are bought for you, let's go!"

Then she was about to take Francesca to check in.

"Where's Chrono?" Francesca vaguely felt that something was wrong, "He's not at the airport?"

"Does it matter? I'm just here." The female assassin pushed Francesca, "Get to check in."

"No." Francesca stared at her suspiciously, "You guys aren't trying to transfer the tiger away from the mountain, are you?"

The female assassin's eyes flickered for a moment, and Francesca immediately understood: "So your purpose is..."

Francesca was so shocked that she hurriedly ran towards the car park.

The female assassin immediately followed behind and chased out.

When the two ran to the car park, the female assassin shot at Francesca's feet, "Stop!"

Francesca was about to make her move when a group of people suddenly rushed out from the shadows and fought with the female assassin.

Francesca fixed her eyes and saw that it was actually Sloan, so they hadn't left.

She didn't have time to think about it and quickly jumped into the car.

"Ms.Felch!"

Sloan called out, and Francesca didn't even turn her head back as she sped away in her car.

Sloan and the others quickly took down the female assassin, knocking her unconscious and letting the bodyguards take her away, while Sloan drove off with two men to chase after Francesca.

"Brother Sloan, Brother Gordon and the others haven't arrived yet, will we not have enough men?"

"Let's rush over there first."

"Yes."

While driving to the orphanage, Francesca called Anthony, but the phone couldn't be reached.

She called the orphanage staff again, but still couldn't get through.

She was so anxious that she pushed on the accelerator, almost about to drive the car into the air.

A bad omen ran through her mind and she wondered if Chrono was going to treat her in another, crueller way.

In the middle of her thoughts, a phone call came in, it was William.

Francesca hurriedly answered it, "William!"

William: "Francesca, is something wrong?"

Francesca: "There may be something at the orphanage, William, I am on my way there now, can you?"

William: "I'll send someone over right away."

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2065

Chapter 2065

Without asking a single question, William immediately told his men to rush to the orphanage with their men.

At the same time, he also called Monica and told her to quickly rush over to meet up with Francesca.

Francesca did not want to drag William into this, but now the situation was urgent and she had no choice but to turn to him.

She sped along, itching to fly to the orphanage.

Although it was early in the morning and there were few cars on the road, the distance was so far that no matter how fast she was, it would still take some time.

Time passed and Francesca finally arrived at Orphanage.

Francesca jumped down from the car and saw the scene in front of her and couldn't help but freeze.

Several police cars were parked in front of the orphanage, the police were pointing their guns inside, all with a highly alert look, yet surprisingly quiet.

Before Francesca arrived, the police used the loudspeaker to negotiate with him, and all he said was, "If you say one more word of nonsense, I will kill a child!"

The policemen were so frightened that they immediately closed their mikes and dared not say more.

Immediately afterwards, Chrono said quietly, "From now on, keep quiet and wait for Francesca to come over, I want to see her!"

Everyone dared not say a word, and could only stand guard outside the orphanage.

Some police officers were quietly cruising around, trying to try to sneak in, when a gunshot immediately sounded from inside, followed by the children's terrified cries.

The policemen no longer dared to move. Monica reminded them that the orphanage was littered with cameras, that it was monitored and that everything was under Chrono's control.

If they made any more rash moves, they were afraid that Chrono would really go on a killing spree.

That's why everyone kept a high level of silence and waited for Francesca's arrival.

"Ms.Felch!" Monica hurriedly came over and said anxiously, "Chrono has placed many bombs in the orphanage and is now controlling the children inside as hostages!"

Although she had expected this scene, Francesca's emotions were still overwhelming when she heard the words, "This madman, madman!"

"Ms.Felch..." Monica hurriedly pulled her back, "Calm down!"

"Ms.Felch, we're trying to figure out what to do, do you have an internal map of the orphanage?" William's men came down to ask.

"It's no use, even if you sneak in, you can't do anything, over a hundred children's lives are in Chrono's hands, as well as the staff."

Francesca covered her forehead and tried to compose herself, "The person Chrono wants to kill is me, once he sees me he won't touch the children."

"But..." Those people still wanted to say something else, when the door of the orphanage opened and a gloomy voice came out from inside, "Francesca, you're finally here!"

His voice seemed particularly eerie in this silent night.

"Chrono, the person you want to kill is me, let the children go!" Francesca hurried over to him.

"Wouldn't killing you make your death too easy?" Chrono sneered grimly, "I'll let you taste what I feel."

"What do you want?" Francesca questioned excitedly, "Don't you mess around?"

Halfway through her sentence, several children came out from inside with trepidation, and when they saw Francesca, they all wailed and cried.

"Francesca sister save me, woo woo..."

"Francesca..."

Francesca wanted to rush over to save the children, but found that each child had a bomb strapped to them.

She hurriedly stopped in her tracks and rushed at Chrono in the room and roared in agitation, "You madman, what the h-e-l-l do you want?"

"Kneel down!" Chrono ordered coldly.

"You..." Francesca was about to speak when a bullet passed over a child's head with a bang, and the child fell to the ground in fear, breaking down and crying.

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2066

Chapter 2066

"It's noisy." Chrono raised his gun and aimed at the head of one of the children, "Quiet!"

"children, don't cry!" Francesca hurriedly soothed, "Be good, don't be afraid, sister will protect you, now we are playing a bad guy game, sister will save you, you have to help sister, okay?!"

When the children heard Francesca say this, they immediately dried their tears and stopped crying, but just held their little mouths and kept sobbing and nodding their heads.

"Chrono, don't move the children, I will do whatever you say!" Francesca soothed the children, then knelt down on one knee.

"Ms.Felch...", Monica exclaimed in shock.

"That's right." Chrono smiled in satisfaction, "Now, confess your sins properly and show them exactly what you have done wrong."

Francesca looked up and looked inside. Under the dim light, Chrono's face flashed brightly and darkly, like a devil.

Those long, narrow eyes revealed a cold, ghostly light, with a bone-chilling hatred.

Francesca looked at him with abhorrence and said word by word, "My first mistake, I shouldn't have meddled, seeing Candice sitting alone on the stone pier waiting for you, I shouldn't have stayed with her so that she wouldn't have gotten into trouble for giving me candy."

"Nonsense." Chrono was dissatisfied, "Go on!"

"My second mistake, after Candice's accident, I shouldn't have been so confident that I could save her, when I was so full of confidence in my medical skills and so eager to save people that I had to stabilize you first in order to calm your manic emotions.

The third mistake, during the operation it was discovered that Candice had a congenital heart condition and that her heart had been operated on before, I should have terminated the operation in time, informed you of the situation and cleared myself of responsibility, instead of continuing to do my best to continue the rescue.”

“Shut up!!!” Chrono finally couldn’t listen any longer, “You’re still looking for excuses after all this? Let me tell you, firstly, you really shouldn’t have meddled, you shouldn’t have deliberately approached Candice and pretended to be a good person, if not, Candice wouldn’t have been shot for bringing you candy.

Secondly, you can’t do medicine but you have to brag that you can save Candice, and then you make all kinds of excuses to excuse yourself afterwards, if you didn’t brag that brag at that time, I could have found a better doctor, then Candice wouldn’t have died.”

Hearing these words, Monica was all speechless, “She can’t do medicine? Do you know who she is?”

“Monica...” Francesca interrupted Monica, not wanting her to reveal her identity, “Chrono, it’s useless for me to say anything now, you can’t listen to me and I don’t want to explain anymore. Tell me, what do you really want?”

Although Francesca has a belly full of words that she wants to refute, such as Chrono saying that he could have found another doctor at that time, Francesca can be 100% absolutely sure that finding another doctor would not have saved Candice, and that the person might not even have been resuscitated.

But it’s pointless to talk about this now.

Chrono couldn’t listen to it.

Francesca also didn’t want to bring up Candice’s death over and over again, every time it was a tear.

“I’m going to make you watch these children die in front of you!”

Chrono didn’t want to talk nonsense to Francesca anymore, he just raised his gun and aimed at one of the children, ready to shoot.

“No!” Francesca screamed in shock, then dashed forward like lightning.

“Bang!” A shot rang out and blood splattered everywhere.

Francesca was shot in the shoulder and blood rushed out, but she remained deadly protective of the boy.

“Ahhh, Sister Francesca!” A girl cried out in fear in Francesca’s arms.

“Ms.Felch.” Monica was desperate, but with Chrono still holding a group of children by his side, they had no way to do anything, nor did they dare to do anything rashly.

The policemen were also anxious, but nothing could be done.

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2067

Chapter 2067

“You crazy, crazy man!!!” Anthony roared in agitation. He had just woken up to the sound of gunshots after being beaten up by Chrono earlier to protect the children and fainted on the floor.

At this moment several other staff members in the hall saw Francesca get shot and all turned white with fear and hot tears in their eyes, but they did not dare to say anything.

This was because there were dozens of other children in the room, many of whom had bombs strapped to them.

Once he angered Chrono, he could press the remote control at any time and the children would be blown to pieces.

“How great!” Chrono seemed very happy to see Francesca get shot. The smile on his face turned joyful, “I’ll see how many more shots you can block!”

With that, Chrono raised his gun again and aimed at the other child.

“Ah, sister Francesca..” The child howled in fear.

Francesca: “Don’t.”

“Bang!” The shot rang out again and once again Francesca rushed forward to shield the child in her arms.

This shot hit her in the thigh and she fell to the ground, unable to stand up again.

At this point, Francesca was shot in two places, blood rendering her white clothes, she was shaking with pain and sweating like rain, but she gritted her teeth and held on.

“Sister Francesca, ooooooooooooo...”

“Ms.Felch!”

“Francesca!”

The children cried into a ball.

Anthony ran outside anxiously.

Monica and the girls were distraught but helpless.

The policemen were all panicked too, afraid that something would happen, but not daring to do anything rash.

“Great!” Chrono acted even more excited when he saw Francesca injured, “You’re really a good man, it seems I misunderstood you, you are indeed truly protecting these children!”

“You might as well shoot me dead!” Francesca gritted her teeth and glared at Chrono.

“Wouldn’t it be too easy to kill them with one shot?” Chrono sneered mockingly, “How could I let you die so easily?”

“You...” Francesca was about to speak when Chrono raised his gun again, aiming at the next child, and said in a way that still made sense, “There are five children here, you block one shot per child, I don’t know if you can hold out!”

Then, Chrono rested his forehead in hurt, “There are still dozens of children in the house, you mustn’t die so soon.”

“You want to kill me, kill me any way you want, let the children go first.” Francesca was still holding on hard, she wanted to keep these children, even if she had to trade her own life for them.

“It’s up to you whether you want to let them go or not.” Chrono sneered grimly, “Are you ready? Next!”

“You...”

“Bang!”

Francesca was about to speak when Chrono fired. She rushed forward almost on instinct, but because her legs and arms were injured, her movement was slow and she was a step too slow.

She fell to the ground, but couldn’t care less about her injuries.

She thought the children were hurt, but the children’s terrified screams came to her ears, “Ah, Brother Anthony!!!”

Francesca’s heart trembled, looking up, Anthony had fallen into a pool of blood. Just now, he used all his strength to rush over and protect the children, but he himself was shot in the abdomen.

“Anthony!!!” Francesca crawled over in excitement and scrambled to cover his wound, “You hang on, hang on!!!”

Chrono was a very accurate shot, he didn't want Francesca to die so quickly, so the previous two shots only wounded her shoulder and leg, while this one, which hit Anthony right in the abdomen, was extremely dangerous.

Francesca panicked at once and hurriedly looked in her bag for gauze to stop Anthony's bleeding, at which point she also overheard something.

“Tsk, tsk, what an infatuation!” When Chrono saw that Francesca cared so much about Anthony, it was even more painful, “Now you understand how I feel, right? I just want the people you care about to die one by one in front of you!”

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2068

Chapter 2068

“I really shouldn't have been soft-hearted!” Francesca looked at the dying Anthony and felt incomparable remorse in her heart, back in H City, Danrique could have killed Chrono.

It was because she was concerned about the guilt she felt towards Candice and worried that Chrono's accomplices had planted bombs in the orphanage and would strike at any moment to blow it up, so she blocked them from doing it, which allowed Chrono to escape.

It was because of that hesitation on her part at the time that led to the situation today.

Now, all the guilt and guilt in Francesca's heart had been erased by Chrono's own hands, and she only had immense hatred and anger towards this madman.

“You don't stand a chance anymore.” Chrono felt that he had played enough and didn't want to play any further, he simply took out the remote control, “Destroy together, she will be happy to have you and these children to bury my Candice together!”

With that, Chrono was ready to press that start button.

Just in the nick of time, Francesca suddenly sprinkled a piece of silver powder from at Chrono.

Chrono reacted quickly and shot at her, but before he could pull the trigger, there was a sudden “bang” and the silver powder burst into flames on his body.

The flame burned so fast that it was like a wild beast, engulfing Chrono in a matter of moments.

Chrono first looked at himself in astonishment, and then fell to the ground with a miserable scream and rolled, attempting to extinguish the flame in this way.

But the flames could not be extinguished, instead they grew stronger and stronger.

Realising this, Chrono immediately lunged towards the children.

“Ah...” The children screamed in terror and fled in a panic.

“Monica!” Francesca shouted.

Only then did Monica react and immediately rushed in with the William’s bodyguards to protect the children, and the police tried to come in too.

But just then, there was a sudden explosion outside in the playground area, and the police officers were startled and immediately stopped in their tracks.

Francesca fixed her eyes, only to find that Chrono was still holding the remote control in his hand.

There were ten buttons on the remote control, which meant that whichever one he pressed, whichever place would explode.

Just now, Chrono was burned so much that he unintentionally pressed the 0 button, so it was the playground that exploded, and if he pressed any other button, the consequences would be unthinkable.

“Francesca, I’m going to die with you!” Chrono hissed frantically, ready to press all the buttons.

Francesca rushed over to Chrono, but because she had been shot in the leg, she fell to the ground at once. Her eyes widened in shock, thinking that everything was about to end.

At that moment, a silver light flashed, and then Chrono screamed “Ah”, blood gushed out, and one hand fell to the ground with the remote control.

“No...”

Francesca screamed in shock, if the remote control fell to the ground and touched the button, it would be the end!

At that moment, a white figure, rushed over with lightning speed and caught that remote control.

Before Francesca could react, he only heard a familiar voice coming from his ears, "Go to h-e-l-l!"

With that, Danrique kicked Chrono to the ground and stomped on his head fiercely, "You dare to touch even my woman, you are tired of living!"

At this moment, Chrono's body was still burning with flames, Danrique seemed to be stepping on a ball of fire.

"You..." Before Chrono could speak, he was kicked away by Danrique.

Chrono crashed through the window and fell into the pond outside.

The flames met the water, and instead of going out, they burned faster, the water in the pond boiled up, and soon, Chrono was motionless.

Francesca stared in awe at the smoke in the pond and finally let out a sigh of relief.

This madman, finally dead!!!

"Stupid woman!"

An angry shout came, and immediately afterwards, Francesca felt her body vacate, and before she knew it, she crashed into a warm, broad chest.

She looked up and saw that familiar handsome face, while those eyes burned with anger, "All you do is cross at me!"

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2069

Chapter 2069

Although Danrique's words were spoken angrily and his tone was somewhat hateful, that look full of worry instantly melted Francesca's heart.

Francesca couldn't tense up anymore and weakly leaned against his chest.

"It's okay, I'm here!" Danrique's heart became soft and he could no longer bear to scold her, but only touched her head tenderly with his palm.

It was as if he was telling her that even if the sky collapsed, he would hold on to it!

Francesca became soft at once, all her strength, at this moment, was removed.

At this point, she suddenly remembered something more important and hurriedly said, "Those bombs, Anthony, and the children..."

“Don’t worry, I’ll take care of it.” Danrique hugged Francesca and left in stride, not looking back as he ordered, “Settle everything down, I don’t want anything to happen to any of them except for Chrono.”

“Yes, sir!”

.....

Anthony and several of the injured social workers were promptly taken to the hospital.

Gordon was an expert in bomb disposal and quickly defused all the hidden bombs in the orphanage.

The children were all moved to other orphanages to settle down and Sloan and the others accompanied the police here to do the aftermath.

That day, it rained heavily and continued to do so until the next morning.

Francesca woke up from a nightmare and opened her eyes to see Danrique’s gentle face, she hurriedly asked, “Where is Anthony? Where are the children? Are they all right?”

Danrique’s brow furrowed up and his eyes were full of displeasure, but he didn’t get angry, instead he answered bluntly, “A few of the little ones are injured, none of them are seriously hurt but Anthony seems to be in some danger, he is now in the intensive care unit.”

“He should have hurt his spleen, I have to go and see.” Francesca stiffly tried to get up, but was held down by Danrique, “How can you treat someone when you’re so badly injured? I’ve asked Sean to inform Dr. Wright to come over.”

“It’s too late.” Francesca was very anxious, “His condition is critical, it will be dangerous if it is delayed.”

With that, Francesca strained to sit up and tried to get up and get out of bed, but the injury on her leg was so severe that she fell as soon as she hit the ground.

Danrique sat there, looking at her coldly, without saying a word.

Francesca held onto the hospital bed and attempted to stand up again, but just as she stood up she fell back down again.

“Is he that important?” Danrique finally opened his mouth to question.

“He is dear to me, he is my family, and he is hurt because of me.” Francesca said urgently, “I have to save him!”

Without saying anything else, Danrique got up and picked her up, put her on the wheelchair, and pushed her out.

“Sir!” Sean and his entourage immediately greeted him.

“Call the attending doctor to come and discuss the matter of resuscitating Anthony.” Danrique ordered.

“Yes.” Sean immediately made arrangements.

Danrique pushed Francesca to the intensive care unit, where the dean and doctors were already waiting, and hurriedly explained the specifics to Francesca.

Francesca’s brows furrowed: “What? The bullet hasn’t been removed yet?”

“The bullet is now embedded in the internal organs, it is very dangerous, we dare not..”

“Prepare the operation immediately, I’ll do it.” Francesca was very decisive, “Prepare a lot of blood plasma, quick!”

The doctor looked at Danrique.

“Do as she says.” Danrique ordered.

“Yes.” The dean quickly went to make arrangements, but the attending doctor was a little uneasy: “Ms.Felch, your right shoulder is injured, can you hold a scalpel?”

In fact, now Francesca could only sit in a wheelchair, her leg was unable to hit the ground, and her entire right arm was stiff and immobile.

Therefore, the right hand could not hold the scalpel at all.

“If you can’t hold it with your right hand, you still have your left hand.” Francesca frowned at Anthony on the bed, “Anthony, you believe me, don’t you?”

Anthony didn’t move a muscle, but it was as if he was saying, “Yes, I believe you!”

Mistaking a Magnate for a Male Escort chapter 2070

Chapter 2070

This surgery required an extremely high degree of precision, and it would have been difficult for any other doctor, even at full strength, to do a good job.

But Francesca was now so badly injured that she couldn't even lift her right hand, so she could only use her left hand to hold the scalpel. Moreover, when the nurse handed her the scalpel, she didn't hold it steady and it fell straight to the ground.

The nurses handed her the scalpel and she dropped it.

The attending doctor, Matthias, could not help but remind her, "Ms.Felch, human life is at stake, this is no joke."

"I never joke about human lives." Francesca retook the scalpel, "Begin!"

"Yes." The doctors didn't dare say any more and cooperated with her fully.

Surprisingly, although Francesca was injured like this, once she started the treatment, she looked like a different person, confident and focused.

Moreover, she was very decisive in making the cut without any hesitation.

The other doctors were on tenterhooks, after all, the bullet was embedded in the internal organs and involved the aorta, so one mistake could be life-threatening.

But Francesca quickly and precisely removed the bullet, and then proceeded to the next step.

Three hours later.

Danrique was sitting on the sofa chair in Francesca's ward to return emails when Sean hurriedly came in to report, "Sir, the operation is over, it was successful!"

"Hmm." Danrique answered indifferently.

"Those doctors all praised Ms.Felch's medical skills, saying that she was simply a miracle worker!" Sean was a little excited, "Ms.Felch is indeed powerful, too divine!!!"

"Prepare the special plane and return to Xendale in the evening." Danrique looked at his watch.

"Go back tonight?" Sean was a little surprised, "Then Ms.Felch..."

"Naturally, she is going back with us." Danrique said decisively, "Take off before 8 o'clock."

"Yes." Sean didn't dare to ask more questions and immediately went to get ready.

Danrique continued to read the documents, and after a while, Kerrie pushed Francesca back into the ward, followed by several female medical nurses behind her.

Upon entering the room, the group all saluted Danrique, "Sir!"

"Is the surgery done?" Danrique raised his eyes and looked at Francesca.

"Mm." Francesca was a little tired, said, "I want to take a bath."

"Ms.Felch, you have injuries on your body, you can't get wet, let me rub your body."

Kerrie made a gesture and the two female nurses hurriedly went to prepare hot water.

"Get out." Danrique ordered.

"Yes." The two nurses hurriedly bowed their heads and left.

"Why did you let them leave?" Francesca asked with a frown.

"It's just a body wipe, I can do that too." Danrique carried her to the sofa and reached out to undress her.

"Don't." Francesca subconsciously stepped back, "It's better to let them do it."

"It's not like they haven't seen it before." Danrique took off her outer clothes and then started to unbutton her shirt, "Don't move around, I won't be responsible for getting a wound."

Francesca was a little nervous, but she didn't dare to move around.

Danrique whined as he undid the buttons, "What a nuisance, why so many buttons."

Francesca rolled her eyes, Danrique was sitting on the sofa and now had to attach himself to her, looming over her like a huge beast.

The two who hadn't seen each other for a long time were now in such close proximity that suddenly the atmosphere became ambiguous.

Danrique looked at Francesca, his gaze gradually became ambiguous, and then, that handsome face, came closer and closer.

Francesca froze motionlessly in place, holding her breath and looking at him nervously, "You, what are you going to do? woo.."

Before she could finish her words, she was kissed by Danrique.

Francesca's entire body was stunned, her eyes widened in dismay, and she just wanted to reach out to push him, but Danrique had already backed away.

“It smells like disinfectant!”

This guy, and a face of disgust.

“You... Francesca was so angry that her face turned red, “I just came out of the operating room.”

“Hurry up and wash up.” Danrique continued to undress her.