Chapter 2

Zhang Fan regretted that he wanted to slap himself. The job fair was over and he had to rely on himself.

The way of postgraduate entrance examination has never been thought of. He is busy earning tuition and living expenses every day. He barely fails in all subjects. Zhang Fan, who comes from a small place, is dying of poor English. Every time he takes the English test, he only fools the past by passing a few notes to his elder brother in the dormitory. In addition, his younger sister is already in high school and is about to take the college entrance examination. As his elder brother, Zhang Fan has to consider for his younger sister and his aging parents.

Riding a broken bike nobody wants, looking for a job all over the city. There is no need to consider the third class hospital. If there is no provincial relationship, a small undergraduate should not even think about it. Public hospitals also have no hope. Although there are entrance examinations every year, it is estimated that it is more difficult for a student who has no way to take the examination than winning the lottery.

There are not many ways, just look at some small hospitals, community hospitals, private hospitals and so on in the corners of the city. Although Lan City is in the northwest, it can be regarded as the provincial capital at least. This day, he rode to find a hospital in a remote area. Zhang Fan's legs were thin, but he still didn't find a job.

There is an access system for doctors in this industry, that is, the licensed doctor certificate. They can only take the examination one year after graduation from university. It is illegal to practice medicine without a certificate.

Private hospitals recruit practicing doctors who can work and bring profits when they go. A fresh college student who has just graduated and looks dusty, he looks like a migrant worker in the city. He doesn't look like a doctor. Unexpectedly, he refused Zhang Fan.

Zhang Fan also has no way. He can save one piece at a time. Just thinking about saving money and cycling all over the world, his image is a little worse. The society of looking at clothes makes Zhang Fan at a loss.

I went out of the dormitory before dawn every day. I didn't go back until dark. A week later, I didn't have any hope. Unable to eat and sleep, Zhang Fan, who is not fat, has obvious cheekbones. There were six people in the dormitory, two of whom were in Baoyan. They went out to travel early. The rest is either going to meet his girlfriend or going home. Only Zhang Fan is left.

Lying in bed at night, Zhang Fan thought about it and hated the school. "Why did NTN expand its enrollment? I couldn't go to medical school if you didn't expand your enrollment. I might get rich if I worked outside for a few years."

Zhang Fan, who can't help it, is a little complaining. Say bad luck, but there are good things for him. The university has expanded its enrollment. In order to attract more college entrance examination students to apply for the examination in the future, the employment rate is a gold standard. If you are unemployed after graduation, who will come to your school. Therefore, the school also tried its best to find jobs for students, regardless of whether it was good or not. Anyway, if it was sent out to the class, it would be able to find employment.

In 2008, China was also a year of great joy and sorrow. First, the earthquake in Sichuan Province, and then the success of the Olympic Games attracted worldwide attention.

In response to the call of the state, the only key university in Jiangsu Province merged the medical school, and one of the three books suddenly became 211. In the first year of merger, the school also spent a lot of effort on the employment rate of the medical school. We can't let a three book school smash the brand of 211, So I contacted a college student's graduation western support activity.

Su Province was originally in the northwest, but the National University of China, ah, and more western areas, ah, at least 211. It's not a big problem to contact county-level hospitals in remote areas. At once, hundreds of people found a way out.

Of course, Zhang Fan was among the hundreds of people. The head teacher gave Zhang Fan the work agreement and the western support reward of 2000 yuan issued by the school. Zhang Fan looked foolish and forced me to the border. At that time, the head teacher said, you can't go, but this is the last chance, otherwise there will be no place for practicing doctors to sign up in the future, Although it's far away, the salary is high. Isn't this a subsidy from the school!

Even frightened and boasted, he asked Zhang Fan to sign. This is the task. The head teacher paid so much attention to Zhang Fan for the first time.

Helpless Zhang fan can only go to the frontier, no way. The sister at home studies well and can't delay her. Stay away. At least you'll be a public person in the future. You'll be Doctor Zhang in the future! With a place for work, Zhang Fan packed up his bedding and went home.

Zhang Fan's home is not far from the provincial capital. It's just a small county about a hundred kilometers away. There is no expressway, but it's a bumpy provincial road. The shuttle bus takes three hours to get home.

After college, Zhang Fan was busy working and seldom went home. Parents are also very helpless about Zhang Fan's work. They don't go to the frontier and have no place to work, but it's too far away. It's more than 2000 kilometers, and they're almost to the neighboring state of Stan.

The agreement has been signed. Zhang Fan has figured out that it is the territory of China. Moreover, he heard that there is a little loss in the bottom of his heart in the small Jiangnan, which is known as the frontier with beautiful scenery. He worked hard to get into the quasi second tier city. As a result, as soon as he graduated, he was sent to the fifth tier city in the frontier. According to the investment theory, it would be a failed investment.

After a few days of fast walking, Zhang Fan and his father went back to their hometown to pay a grave for their ancestors and help them work at home for a few days. They secretly stuffed a thousand yuan into their sister. Looking at her tearful eyes, Zhang Fan twisted her face. "Little weeping worm, what can you cry about? My brother goes to work to make money, not to go to the battlefield. You must study hard and enter Shuimu University, Don't learn from the last three books. You can't find a good job. "

"When will you come back to see me and my parents, so far away. I don't want you to go. " With a crying voice, Zhang Jingshu also pulled her brother's clothes like when she was a child and asked reluctantly.

"Oh, my silly sister, when my brother goes to work and makes a lot of money, he will come back in two hours. Don't cry. I'm leaving. You should listen to your parents and don't delay your study. "

"I'm not stupid. I don't want money. You have to go so far."

"Take what you give. You've grown up. Be generous when you want to buy something. Don't buckle and search all day. Don't you know your brother? Can you send money. All right, put it on quickly, or I'll be angry. "

Bang Dang! The clanging train took Zhang Fan West.

If you don't feel the temperature in the western wilderness, you can't tell winter and summer by your eyes alone. There is no green in the Gobi. There is less rain in summer and less snow in winter. It is only one color, earthy yellow. Zhang Fan, who sits in the hard seat, has a numb ass and doesn't want to play double buckle with others. His blank mind slowly goes farther and farther with a trace of confusion and expectation for the future.

The train can only take Zhang Fan to the frontier capital. Where Zhang Fan wants to work, there is no train in Quark County, which is more than 600 kilometers away from the frontier capital. You'll have to run in a sleeper bus all night to get there.
