

Medical road

Chapter 69

A week after the jump, the hospital began to decorate the exterior wall and reinstall the glass. Fortunately, the patient's family members did not find trouble in the hospital. The hospital did not smash Ye Jing to death with a hammer, but punished Ye Jing with the attitude of treating patients and saving people.

Ouyang just couldn't bear to see Ye Jing muddling along. He just cleaned up a meal through this matter. Half a year bonus deduction, doctors and nurses on duty deduct three months bonus.

And asked them to make a profound review at the department meeting. Most doctors and nurses work hard for that bonus. In fact, this is the best result. If the family members make trouble, the punishment will be even more serious.

Two weeks later, Zhang Fan has made rapid progress and is basically competent for the position of inpatient. After reviewing the Department, Ye Jing applied for annual leave. He resigned without approval, and Ouyang was gnashing his teeth. She knows how difficult it is to cultivate a doctor in her heart. If a resident is so capricious, he would have been sent to the corner and wait for his resignation.

The teacher asked for leave, but several inpatients didn't leave the hospital. Ren Li first prepared to distribute the patient to other doctors. As a result, she found that the patient's condition was not serious on a ward round. She could be discharged slowly after a few days of treatment.

She called Zhang Fan's attention. Although there are more female doctors in the heart, this department actually has the advantage of male doctors. Zhang Fan has been admitted as a licensed doctor. As soon as his certificate is registered in March, he can be on duty alone immediately.

examination! Examination for transferred doctors within the Department. The topic is her, which is aimed at the heart, from basic to clinical, from simple to complex, a total of 20 questions.

Ten uncertain choices and ten short answers. The three transferred doctors were unprepared. When they went to work, they suddenly called the Department office, went in and began to answer the questions.

Zhang Fan has written the book of internal medicine for N times, and the foundation has also been read once. It's not back to back, but it can be used skillfully.

Ren Lixin is a graduate student and director of xinnei for more than three years. The problem is quite good. The first three tests are based on the actual clinical practice. If you are careless, you will enter her trap.

Within two weeks, Zhang Fan worked in a down-to-earth manner. In this way, he was not particularly sure of several problems. It's not that Zhang Fan doesn't work hard, but that Ren Li is too powerful. She has a clear understanding of the weaknesses of transferred doctors, whether they are excellent or not, and if they don't work hard, they will be clear in one exam.

Make achievements on the spot and comment on the spot. Fortunately, it's a little friendly. It's a separate comment, otherwise it's really embarrassing.

Two girls commented in front of Zhang Fan. One is normal, and the other girl from gynecology came out crying.

After Zhang Fan went in, Ren Li directly asked, "what is the biggest difference between surgery and internal medicine?"

Zhang Fan is confused. Everyone knows that surgery and internal medicine are very different, but what is the biggest difference? After thinking about it, Zhang Fan replied, "many medical treatments are palliative treatment, while most surgical treatments are radical surgery."

Ren Li nodded and continued to ask, "do you want to do internal medicine. Don't be happy. Cardiology doesn't have to ask you. It just wants to know your wishes. "

Zhang Fan is not happy at all. He really doesn't like internal medicine. Considering a disease and a drug before and after consideration, he is not happy at all. He really can't bear to face the aging population every day.

"I didn't think about it. I've been in surgery and I haven't been in internal medicine during my internship." Zhang Fan's answer was a little tactful, but it also showed that he had no intention of internal medicine.

Ren Li stared at Zhang Fan for a while and said, "well, go to work. You can take care of Dr. Ye's patients temporarily. After the treatment is completed, you can leave the hospital."

In fact, Zhang Fan's exam is good, has met Ren Li's requirements, and is a boy, which is what the department needs. But Zhang Fan doesn't want to do it. Ren Li won't do it yet. There is no shortage of people in her heart who want to do it.

Ouyang attended the morning meeting on Friday. Generally speaking, Ouyang will not come on Friday. After the morning meeting, Ouyang left the doctor and head nurse for the meeting.

"After receiving the notice from our superiors, some leaders will come to have a heart examination at the weekend. We should be prepared to avoid accidents. We can't leave a bad influence on the leaders. " Ouyang looked at everyone.

Then he said, "the doctor doesn't rest this weekend. He works normally. The head nurse keeps more experienced old nurses to lead the shift. Do a good job in the hygiene of the Department and take out the best mental outlook to meet the temporary inspection of the superior. "

A member of the Standing Committee who is about to retire will have a routine heart examination. In the past, I always had a physical examination in the capital. Because I was about to retire, it didn't matter whether it was confidential or not, so I asked the Secretary to inform the health bureau and Ouyang.

There were so many patients in the Department that they had to receive leaders on weekends, which made the Department restless.

Sanitation, direct housekeeping. The usual water cups, books and so on have been cleaned up. When the white coat is old, go to get a new one. Originally, there are two patients in one ward. The patients in the heart need to be quiet. But for the sake of leadership, each ward is directly added with a bed, and the patients in the corridor live in it. Patients who can or cannot be discharged are discharged.

Cleaning the glass and doing sanitation is bad for brushing the wall.

On Sunday afternoon, accompanied by the director of the Health Bureau, Ouyang and several vice presidents, a group of Hula people came to the Department of Cardiology.

Ren Li took the doctor in the Department and stood up to welcome the leaders. A member of the Standing Committee and a high-level member. In the Department, I simply said a few words.

He affirmed the credit of the hospital leaders and praised the treatment level of the hospital doctors. Finally, after shaking hands with each doctor, Ren Li personally gave him routine examination, ECG, tablet test and all the items that could be examined.

It's not a big problem. It's just that the rate of snacks is uneven. After reading the diagnosis and treatment plan opened by the capital hospital, Ren Li didn't change it because the effect was very good and didn't need to be changed.

After more than an hour, Ouyang personally sent him out of the hospital.

A simple routine examination made the cardiology department nervous for two days. The doctors and nurses in the whole department were busy for two days. Do you have any complaints? Of course, do you dare to complain? No, I don't know. Ren Li and Ouyang knew just after complaining.

Zhang Fan is really spinning recently. If it weren't for the system, he would be tired and get down early. The director of general surgery in Quark county recently received several gallbladder and appendix.

He is also the director of the old department in the local health system, because Zhang Fan is not alone. He will give him the general hard work fee every time he finishes the operation. He helped Zhang Fan contact the General Foreign Affairs Directors in several counties.

There will be an operation in three or four days. Zhang Fan needs to run to the county hospital. Cardiology is so busy. When I go back at night, I have to seize the time to read. My income has increased a lot, and Zhang Fan has lost a lot.

Li Xiao's third treatment is about to begin. After the first two treatments, Li Xiao made a special trip to the port city. After the examination, he compared it with the previous one. Hey! The lumbar spine has a tendency of retraction.

The doctors in Gangcheng were very curious and asked about Li Xiao's treatment. Of course, Li Xiao would not tell them that Zhang Fan was one of her secret weapons.

Shaohua's mother's treatment also ended with good results. After the treatment, Shaohua's mother gave Zhang Fan a red envelope, and Zhang Fan didn't want to live or die. How to meet Shao Hua is also a difficult problem for Zhang Fan.
