

《Medical Road》

Chapter 7

After the operation, Nur asked Zhang Fan to take care of the patient, but Zhang Fan refused. At present, although it is very short of money, it is more urgent to have more surgery. Regardless of the patient, Chen Qifa should be very happy. The Commission of steel plate is divided into three people, and the Commission of drugs belongs to him. In the future, Zhang Fan still needs Lao Chen as his assistant. Noor can't count on it.

Orthopedic surgery? A patient doesn't come for many days. Do you want surgery every day for several days. Zhang Fan has already established his position in the orthopedic department. Old Nur is very relieved of him. He has not come to the hospital for many days. Anyway, he is about to retire, and the Dean doesn't care much about him. After their operation, Zhang Fan directly signed the name of old Nur. Although there have been operations for several days, it is still far from the standard of starting the next subject. Zhang Fan brushed the trauma and rehabilitation again and gained a lot of new gains.

Before the operation, Zhang Fan had to ask someone to let him start when he went to other departments. Now it's different. Others have put Zhang Fan in the position of a chief surgeon. After several days of surgery, there were no patients for many days. Originally, quark county had a small population of more than 100000 people. In addition, they were not confident about the medical level of the county. People went to the city to see doctors for slightly important diseases.

I can't help it. If the operation can't be done, I'll brush for recovery. Anyway, I need practical operation. Zhang Fan, like selling wool tablets, asked people, including doctors and nurses in the hospital: "is there any intervertebral disc hyperplasia. Do you need a massage" The actual operation of systematic rehabilitation includes manual recovery of intervertebral disc herniation, manual reduction of lumbar bulging, massage rehabilitation of lumbar muscle strain and so on.

Most of the older nurses have poor lumbar spine, which is also an occupational disease. The head nurse of the second Department of external medicine is Zhang Fan's first patient in rehabilitation treatment: "Dr. Zhang, my waist is sour and my legs are numb these days. I can't get up when I sit down. I can't sit down when I get up. Please show me"

"Head nurse, this is lumbar disc herniation pressing the nerve. It's not very serious. I'll give you a course of rehabilitation. It should be better. In the future, you should try not to sit long or lift heavy objects, otherwise you will have a relapse" Zhang Fan looked at Guli's CT film and said.

"Hu Da, thank God you can reduce it" Obviously Guli didn't hold much hope. She had been to the hospital in the capital of the frontier. She was asked to have an operation. Guli didn't dare to do it. She came back after a few days of conservative treatment. She usually endured it. She was a little tired these days and her waist and legs hurt badly. Just as Zhang Fan asked all over the world, she came to ask Zhang Fan to give it a try.

There are obvious differences between the rehabilitation massage of Western medicine and the principles of traditional Chinese medicine. Traditional Chinese medicine has meridians and acupoints, while western medicine is relatively simple and violent. For example, lumbar disc herniation presses back the protruding intervertebral disc through various body position changes and external forces. Zhang Fan let Guli lie on her side with both hands holding her head. He pushed Guli's pelvis with slow force with his left hand and pulled Guli's shoulder joint with slow force with his right hand. Make Guli's spine form a separate torque up and down, and slowly reset the intervertebral disc through this torque force.

After more than an hour of treatment, Zhang Fan asked Guli to get out of bed to see if there was any improvement. Guli got out of bed slowly and gently moved her waist. Then he turned his head, stared at his big eyes, grabbed Zhang Fan's hand and said, "my brother is much lighter than just now" Then he kissed Zhang Fan's face. Guli is in her forties, and there is a kind of face-to-face gift between Uighur relatives. Her waist tortured her to death. A little improvement was great news. This made Zhang Fan blush.

"Ha ha, my brother is shy. Why don't your sister introduce you to a sheep jar"

Married women, regardless of nationality, are all the same. Zhang Fan is a little overwhelmed. She quickly escapes from the treatment room and enters the doctor's office. Guli watches Zhang Fan flee and laughs more wantonly.

With Guli as an example, there are more old nurses looking for Zhang Fan to look at her waist. Although I dragged my tired body back to the dormitory every day, I was very happy because I was one step closer to opening the next subject.

"Ouch, our friends of middle-aged and elderly women are finally back. I thought you were dragged home" When Li Hui saw Zhang Fan, he made fun of him while smoking. There are many old nurses looking for Zhang Fan these days, so Li Hui makes fun of this.

"Just talk. Why didn't you find your Sasha today" Zhang Fan doesn't care. After all, Li Hui has no malice even if he ridicules.

"I'm waiting for you"

"What are you waiting for? Borrow money? My pocket is cleaner than my face, so don't think about me"

"Am I short of money" Li Hui said contemptuously.

"Snow lotus, which used to draw 10 yuan, has now become a red river of 5 yuan. You're not short of money"

"Hey! I can't say. Wang Sha stipulates that there is no more than 50 cents for cigarettes a month. Isn't there no way? But don't worry, my brother won't borrow money from you. A few days ago, when Wang Sha and I were walking outside, we found a delicious Chinese restaurant. The tunnel is made of braised meat. The beef and mutton on the hospital stove are almost vomiting. Today, Wang Sha and I don't have to be on duty. It's no fun for two people to eat. I just want to pull you"

As soon as Zhang Fan heard it, he refused: "I won't go to your little couple's world as a single Wang. Go sad" Zhang Fan doesn't want to disturb others' world. One reason is that he is poor. The hospital has subsidies for eating on the stove. It doesn't cost much to go out for dinner. Li Hui's treat this time. Do you have to come back next time. Zhang Fan has to save tuition for his sister, so he doesn't want to go.

"Stop talking. After leaving, "I couldn't help but pull Zhang Fan out. Li Hui is a little careful when inviting Zhang Fan to dinner. First, Zhang Fan's technology is well known. There are many benefits of a closer relationship in a dormitory. Second, he has been in the hospital for nearly two months, and he and Wang Sha have never been in the hospital. Zhang Fan has no object and doesn't look like a person with broken mouth. He can get closer to his girlfriend in the dormitory. Zhang Fan dodges the technology.

The three people chatted while eating. The atmosphere was good. Li Hui and Zhang Fan didn't feed each other. Just at dinner, a patient from the orthopaedics department came, even webbed hands. Patient, male, 15 years old, Kazakh, from pastoral area. Because he had little contact with the outside world, he didn't receive treatment when he was young. He came to the county hospital after being persuaded by a relative.

Tuxun was on duty in the second Department of external medicine today. As soon as he saw the patient, he called the deputy director Shi Lei. Whether the county hospital was transferred or not, he needed the director of the Department to ask the president for instructions. Anyway, it was not a patient outside the brain. He didn't ask for trouble and directly contacted the deputy director. Director Noor is unreliable. He is absolutely drunk now.

As soon as Shi Lei listened, he said to Tuxun on the phone, "for orthopedics, first find Xiao Zhang"
