

Mr Ford 1431

Chapter 1431

Hayden Quirk arrived half an hour earlier than Stella did on their first date.

"You're much earlier than I expected," he joked as Stella walked in.

Stella was actually on time, but she still felt a little guilty when she saw him already waiting for her when she arrived.

"The traffic is terrible today," she said.

"Don't worry about it," Hayden said, handing her the menu. "Mr. Ford expected me to wait for you for at least an hour."

"I seriously don't know what you guys are up to," she grumbled, exasperated, "but I hope it will at least be over soon. Just don't drag it out and cause me any trouble."

She ordered a few dishes, then handed the menu back to him. Hayden took it from her, ordered a few more signature dishes that the restaurant was popular for, then Mooked at Stella with a faint smile.

"Did you think this is all just a joke?" he asked.

"What else could it be?"

"Since even Mr. Ford agreed that we should try dating each other, then why don't we give this a so she picked up

think this kind of speak like him," Hayden said, looking at Stella with ask him who coincidence," she replied with a slight frown.

Weston promised that he would not get in the way of our relationship. You should really take a chance and seriously consider me as your potential Stella sighed.

"...Okay," she agreed.

what Weston was so Stella and Hayden started to date

Roger found it surprising.

not actually getting serious with him, for a while, she told him, "I just want to see how things go and let nature take its course. Besides, I really do need to start getting to know some eventually reached Weston's with Dr. Quirk seems

Chapter 1432

Stella's words rendered Weston speechless.

She was right. He had been the one to agree to let Stella date other people, so he must seem like a fool saying all those things to her.

He withdrew his hands and forced himself to calm down a little.

"I have no intention to stand in your way," he told Stella. "I was only worried about Elias and Emma. Since they're also here, I think you need to take their feelings into consideration."

The children could sense the strained atmosphere between the adults, so they just waited patiently on the couch with Roger, occasionally poking their heads out to look at their parents.

Seeing his kids like that, Weston slowly added, "I'm only here to see the kids, so both of you can go ahead with your date."

Stella said nothing and just took Hayden's hand and left.

When they got downstairs, Hayden glanced at her and asked, "Are you sure you want to just leave him like that?"

the point between her brows. "I'm not sure what I just now, but then again, she had no intention of just Hayden disappeared into the distance. He finally looked away, and there were no discernible signs of agitation in his expressions at all. Still, Roger could tell at a glance that he was only concealing that you think you're gonna die? And yet you can't was exactly what Roger went through and stroked

Stella, he had started to spend make up for all his past mistakes with his children.

his best to let the whole of Ahn City know that these children were his while providing them with everything they and his freedom to do all that. Besides, this could only benefit Elias and Emma. Like all parents, she wished for nothing more than to give her children access to better resources and opportunities. Hence, she ultimately never stopped emotionally stable man. He was also considerate and attentive. Having been through a few relationships, he had always treated women would always fluctuate, from sometimes being furious wanted to try taking their relationship and discovered that she found it hard to imagine what her life would look like if she really seconds, he smiled empathetically and said, "Perhaps I've been a little too hasty. This is an important

Dr. Hayden Quirk

Chapter 1433

Weston paused, then simply replied, "Okay."

When he saw her changing into a pair of high heels, he followed her around and asked, "Where are you going?"

"Oh, to a private concert."

Then she added, "If you're going to spend the night here tonight, then please take care of Elias and Emma. But if you have to leave, I'll ask Roger to come over instead."

"Don't worry," he said. "Just go out and enjoy yourself. I'll be at home and take good care of the kids."

Stella paused suddenly, feeling inexplicably weird about what Weston had just said. It sounded like she was forcing him to stay at home and take care of the kids while she went out to have fun without a care in the world.

She turned around to look at Weston, feeling like he was acting like a poor neglected housewife.

She shook her head and tried to shake this terrifying thought out of her mind.

a gentleman. They then walked into the private concert together, with enjoyed her time there. Everyone was conversing in a common language, was conversing with another pianist when she suddenly felt a little dizzy, so she she needed him to stay there. At that point, Stella began to feel the wine I just

and realized something. "You probably got the organizer

then felt a little thirsty.

uncomfortable," she told him as she swallowed her saliva.

a deep breath and asked, "Can you bear it for a little longer?"

closed her eyes. Everything was getting a little blurry now.

that Hayden did not feel at least a little bit tempted right now, but the good upbringing that had been drilled into his mind since childhood warned him even though she was unwilling to, she would report what happened to the organizer and then back to the room. But he stopped at the usual if he went into the room right now. He was still a man, after all. No matter how strong his self-control was,

Chapter 1434

The moment Stella saw him, she flew into his arms and clambered onto his body. She kissed him again and again, trying to search for his breath so she could explore his body even deeper. All she wanted was to let him extinguish the fire burning inside her.

Half an hour had passed, and the effect of the drug on her body was its strongest now.

Weston swallowed his saliva. Without any hesitation, he pinned her against the bathroom mirror and kissed her vehemently on her face, her shoulders, then her neck.

Stella could not stop herself from letting out loud moans. The sounds she produced only drove Weston wilder. Even the corners of his eyes began to turn red now.

Luckily, there was still a thread of reason in his mind. He pushed her away and, while panting heavily, asked her, "Who am I, Stella?"

But Stella's mind was occupied with her primal urges. She ignored his question and grabbed his shirt collar, saying, "Let's do it..."

The sight of her filled Weston with a desire to just give her whatever she wanted and make love to her as ferociously as he could.

But now was not the time yet.

He held her still, refusing to give her what she wanted, and just raised her chin so her eyes looked straight into his.

who am beginning to get impatient now. With all the strength that she had, she tried to tear off the shackles of Weston's grip on her no matter how strong she was in a state where she lost all her self-control, it was still give her what she wanted. He looked down at her calmly that Stella felt a little offended. She had no choice but to open her foggy eyes and look straight ahead at the man

"You're... Weston Ford..."

He descended on her and consumed her whole, not even leaving her bones she noticed the familiar face in front of her, softly kissed the tip of her whole bodies together and became one. Stella closed her eyes and let herself be immersed in this still be some love left for Weston in her saw Dr. Hayden Quirk approaching, his face turned grave, and know that Stella's inside," Hayden sighed. "I just want to face other than a bit of disappointment, Ben replied, "Mr. Ford can handle anything, so don't worry, Dr. nodded and temples for a while, "will you tell Weston Ford that he doesn't need to come see me for the treatments of his conditions anymore? Also, tell him never to bother for a while, then realized that Dr. Quirk was Ben nodded after a long pause. "I'll make sure to convey your message to

Chapter 1435

Stella had rarely ever woken up before him.
He had always been terrifyingly strong, but their lovemaking last night must have consumed a lot of his energy, leaving him so tired that he was still sound asleep.
She stared at him and suddenly felt like doing something naughty. She pinched his nose and held her fingers there, trying to suffocate him.
Unsurprisingly, he soon knitted his handsome brows and quickly woke up.
He was surprised to see her mesmerizing eyes as soon as he woke up, which made him pause. He then took her hand into his and kissed it again and again.
"Are you okay?" he asked with concern, remembering how wildly he ravaged her last night.
She had only been willing to be intimate with him because she was under the influence of a drug, yet he had taken advantage of her and had his way with her over and over again last night.
Stella did not speak.
Seeing her like that made his expressions turn a little colder. He fell silent for a long time before he got up and slowly put on his clothes. He sat there on the bed without saying a word.
back and finally sat up on the make not keep up with his train of thought and was clueless about what he meant. Then she heard him continue with a deep voice, "I promised to keep a distance from you, but I failed to do so. I even..."

as he added, "I even took advantage of you last night. It was completely my fault.

as she found his behavior absurd. "I was the one who to tell him who he was before he started making love to her. Although it might be true that she pleaded with him to stop in a hoarse voice later back turned to her. He looked down. Stella did not see how he said hoarsely after a long silence, "can I keep myself could stop himself from seeing Stella was to keep himself anger and tore the blanket away anybody you like, and I can be with anyone I choose. We'll just mind our own business from now on. It as soon as her feet hit the ground, but before she knew it, a tall and muscular figure appeared in front of her and push him away, only to see his flustered eyes looking straight at her and asking her," What did your business!" She frowned. "Let go of just repeat... what

go of me!" Stella barked through gritted