

Mr Han 1051

Chapter 1051: Save Me!

At this moment, Li Simin could not be relied on at all.

But even if she wanted to rely on her, she also had no way to!

Just as she was feeling unsure about what to do, the police had already walked in.

“Ms. Dai Yiran,” a police officer called out.

Dai Yiran trembled. She could already guess why the police had come to find them, but she was unwilling to admit it.

It was as if she did not think that it really concerned her.

“You... what are you all doing?” Li Simin tightly held on to Dai Yiran.

She had just witnessed with her own eyes Dai Rongcheng being brought away, and now, someone had come for Dai Yiran. How could she stand it?

“Someone told us you had someone orchestrate a kidnapping. Follow us,” the police said coldly.

The evidence in their hands was already sufficient, and so, towards Dai Yiran, they did not use a good tone at all.

She was the daughter of the secretary and still a young girl, but she was so cruel.

If it were not for the fact that Lu Man’s luck was good, she would have been ruined.

Dai Yiran was stunned and stood on the spot. Could... could it be that those people were caught?

“Do you two have any evidence? You’re just coming to trap people!” Dai Yiran said, being thick-skinned.

Li Simin tightly held on to Dai Yiran. “You all must have gotten it wrong. It was not my daughter who did it!”

“If we had no evidence, we wouldn’t have come,” the police said coldly. “Take her away!”

Dai Yiran was then held by the police, and she shouted in shock and anxiety, “What evidence do you guys have?! Let go of me! It’s not me who did it! I did not do anything! It’s those people who made me the scapegoat!”

“Those people?” The police laughed coldly. “Which people?”

Dai Yiran was stunned. “How should I know?! There’s definitely someone trying to accuse me of something I did not do. That’s why you guys came to arrest me!”

“Ha!” The police gave a cold hmph. Why would he waste time speaking with her now? They directly brought her out of the house.

“Yiran! Yiran!” Li Simin called out loudly, seeing that Dai Yiran was about to be brought away.

Dai Yiran turned her head back. She was really scared now.

It turned out that even though she was Dai Rongcheng's daughter, she was not invincible.

She could actually be caught and brought away.

Dai Yiran cried and told Li Simin, "Mom, save me! Save me!"

Li Simin cried very sadly. Dai Rongcheng had been brought away, Dai Yiran was also being brought away, and she was now the only one left.

***

In Han Zhuoli's home.

Lu Man was watching Classic X Files, doing her best to contribute even a little to the show.

Han Zhuoli was by Lu Man's side, his hand around her waist, and he bade Lu Man lie in his embrace.

Lu Man was peeling an orange. After eating a piece, she fed Han Zhuoli a piece, very gently.

At that time, Han Zhuoli's phone rang.

"Help me grab my phone." Han Zhuoli pressed on Lu Man's waist.

Lu Man leaned to the side and then passed the phone to Han Zhuoli.

She saw that it was Mo Jingsheng calling.

It probably had something to do with Dai Yiran.

Han Zhuoli picked it up, listened for a while, then said, "Thank you."

After hanging up, Han Zhuoli told Lu Man, "Dai Rongcheng has already been brought away to be investigated. The evidence is real. He can't run anymore. The police also just arrested Dai Yiran, and now, all Dai Yiran can do is wait for her sentence."

Lu Man nodded, not at all pitying Dai Yiran. Her facial expression did not change at all.

Han Zhuoli liked even her rational side. She did not have any pity towards her enemies—totally cold.

Not only did he feel that she was not being too cold-blooded, but he also felt that it was good that she was like that.

Chapter 1052: Snatching Clients

Those people who were too caring towards their enemies, wasn't there something wrong with them?

He liked how his girl was cold and did not at all hold back.

Han Zhuoli liked her the more he looked at her, and he kissed her lips.

Lu Man's face showed that she was stunned. What kind of thing was this man playing at now?

But she did not know that her soft and dumb look had now caused Han Zhuoli to want to rub her head.

He thought that and actually acted on it as well. After pulling Lu Man into his embrace, he tightly hugged her and rubbed her head for a long while, causing her hair to be messed up.

Lu Man was shocked. What kind of crazy thing was this man doing now?!

"I just think that you are very cute like this," Han Zhuoli could not help but say as he smiled.

Lu Man suddenly smiled. She buried herself into his embrace and rubbed herself against his chest.

She did not feel anything about how Dai Yiran and Dai Rongcheng had ended up. She naturally did not care.

But as for Han Zhuoli, she was very touched.

Just because Dai Yiran had planned to harm her but did not actually do anything, he directly sent Dai Yiran and Dai Rongcheng to jail.

With this man here, she felt very at ease, not needing to worry about anything at all.

Han Zhuoli started to burn up because of Lu Man. He took a look at the sofa and felt that it was wide enough. He wanted to just press her down on it and do it there.

But in the end, Lu Man sat up straight again and properly lay on his chest as she started to watch the show.

Han Zhuoli: "..."

Was this little girl doing it on purpose?!

"I still have a task," Lu Man said as she hit Han Zhuoli's hands away. She then recorded the watching points of the show and handed them to the public accounts she had contacted beforehand.

This time, she did not seek out only Eight Skin Entertainment. She even sought out Expert On Watching Drama From The Sidelines and Draw A Circle On Entertainment, as well as a few other popular accounts.

If it were only Eight Skin Entertainment posting it, the effect would not be so good. Furthermore, the netizens had already practically linked her and Eight Skin Entertainment together, which was why the effects of it being published by Eight Skin Entertainment would be barely felt.

And so, Lu Man contacted a few accounts and had each account publish different posts, and then repost each other's posts. The effect of this method would be more widespread.

What Lu Man had them publish were the watching points of Classic X Files, and she had those watching points made into photos and small clips. When the show was aired, they would post it in real time to snatch viewership ratings from The Performer.

As of now, the effects were really not bad.

"Is this episode of Classic X Files very funny? I need to go take a look."

"F*ck, is it so fun? I'll go and watch it now. I'll watch the rebroadcast of The Performer tomorrow."

“Anyway, the results of The Performer are all internally decided. I have no sort of hope for the actor I like to win or lose. Even though Yu Wei acted better, the winner in the end was Jiang Lin. How can you tell me there are no internal decisions being made in this show?”

And so, many netizens were attracted by the interesting talking points of the show that was posted by the accounts, and they changed channels to watch Classic X Files.

Ge Guangzhen stayed in the office and did not go home. Whether or not this show could continue to air would depend on the viewership ratings tonight.

Hence, he stayed here and did not dare to leave, planning on watching it carefully the whole night.

Team Leader Wu hurriedly came over. “Director Ge, look!”

Team Leader Wu passed his phone to Ge Guangzhen, and Ge Guangzhen saw that all the big verified accounts were talking about Classic X Files.

“If it continues like this, a lot of audience members are going to be attracted away by Classic X Files,” Team Leader Wu said anxiously.

Chapter 1053: This Is Too D*mn Painful

Assistant Director Wang was also there. He was so angry that his hands were trembling. “This... this Classic X Files is too much. How could they steal audiences like this? Where is their dignity as a big television station?!”

No one felt that these accounts were posting of their own will.

Could it be that those accounts were all fans of Classic X Files?

Don’t joke!

It was obvious that someone had contacted them and discussed the price properly to have them continually post while the show was broadcasting.

“This is practically brainwashing!” Team Leader Wu was extremely angry and frantic as he said, “Continuously causing hot topics regarding Classic X Files to appear in front of the netizens would cause the audience who originally did not have much interest in Classic X Files to be interested. They’d start to feel that it is quite interesting and that they should go and watch it, causing them to change channels.”

Not understanding, Ge Guangzhen’s assistant, Xiao Liu, said, “They’re attracting a large group of fans, but aren’t they scared that this would have the opposite effect? Too much talk about it could cause people to feel repulsion and not want to watch.”

Team Leader Wu shook his head and sighed, explaining, “Those who are originally fans of Classic X Files do not mind the posts. The more information there is about the show, the happier they are. The posting is targetted only at those who originally did not watch Classic X Files. Seeing the publicity that is practically filling up the screen, those who feel it is interesting would go and look, undoubtedly increasing the viewership ratings of the show. As for those who feel repulsed by the posts, all they will do is not watch it. Anyway, those people aren’t originally fans and audiences of the show. They were not planning on watching it anyway, and there is no harm to the viewership ratings of the show. This portion of people that were originally not going to watch was not part of the viewership ratings originally at all.”

Assistant Director Wang understood it, and his face showed how upset he was. “The f*ck, who was the one who came up with this idea? It is too damaging, really inhumane! Who would do publicity like that?!”

He had been in the television industry for so long and had done all kinds of shows, yet he had never seen anything like this.

“Everyone says that they advertise a lot before the show is aired, but what sort of thing is doing publicity while the show is airing? It’s like restaurants pulling customers to eat there. This is practically breaking the rules of the industry!” Assistant Director Wang was so angry, his voice had increased in volume. “Who is this person, thinking up these sorts of horrible schemes?!”

After saying that, Assistant Director Wang quietened down instantly.

Why did these words seem so familiar as he said it?

While this whole scheme was new to them, it still made him feel that it was extremely familiar.

Team Leader Wu said with his face looking upset, “It looks like Lu Man’s schemes.”

Everybody: “...”

F*ck, how did they forget about her?!

“Didn’t she participate in just one episode of Classic X Files? This episode has nothing to do with her!” Assistant Xiao Liu said.

It had nothing to do with her anymore, so why was she making trouble here?!

“Don’t forget, besides being an actor, she is also a public relations officer. Although she did not participate in this episode, Classic X Files could still have hired her as a public relations officer to advertise their show,” Team Leader Wu said, his face wooden.

Everybody: “...”

Classic X Files was really too shameless!

It’s from a big television station, yet it’s lacking the dignity befitting of a big station!

“Are we just going to let her continue doing this?” Xiao Liu said, reluctant to admit defeat.

“What can we do? Could we stop her from doing this?” Team Leader Wu said, annoyed.

Ge Guangzhen asked Team Leader Wu in a low voice, “Since you can totally analyze Lu Man’s schemes, why can’t you think up those schemes? If you had done publicity for our show like that, we wouldn’t be so passive now!”

Chapter 1054: If They Saw Her in the Future, They Would Avoid Her

Team Leader Wu: “...”

Should he say that his ability to analyze Lu Man's actions completely was because Lu Man had already done it, and he could analyze those actions?

But if they wanted him to do the same, he could not come up with anything at all.

"Director Ge, we are different from Classic X Files. We have always been affected by our internal decision of the results. If we posted all over like her, we would cause people to dislike us more, so we can't do that." Team Leader Wu could only explain it like that.

"Then why does Lu Man insist on targeting our show?" Xiao Liu said angrily. "She's suppressing our show to death!"

Ge Guangzhen was quiet.

He naturally knew why Lu Man would do that.

Their show was totally brought down by the Lu Corporation.

But whatever was said now would be useless.

After the first episode was aired, Chief Hu of the Broadcasting Station had already said that if the second episode's results were not good, as expected, the show would stop airing.

Even if he wanted to do anything now, it was already too late.

Ge Guangzhen sighed. "Alright, I'll leave it to fate."

Ge Guangzhen also admitted defeat. "Before this, when the first episode finished airing, the viewership ratings were not very good, so Chief Hu of the Broadcasting Station gave me one last chance. If the results of the second episode airing are still not good, then our show will have to stop airing."

What?!

Everyone was stunned.

Everyone was quiet.

Back then, why did they provoke Lu Man?

In any case, in the future, they would definitely not go and bother Lu Man.

This girl held grudges far too well!

They provoked her just once, and she refused to let up, attacking the show until it needed to stop airing!

"From now on, when you meet Lu Man, be a bit more polite. Don't be like that Xu Yaojie, offending people so easily. In the past, we got to watch Lu Man fight with others merely as bystanders. We did not understand the internal situation. We saw only that Lu Man is young, so we thought the reason Lu Man always wins is probably related to some other things. It was only after we really faced-off with her that we found out how hard she is to deal with," Ge Guangzhen said.

Even though he was not willing to admit it, he could not help but admire the production team of Classic X Files, as well as Lu Dongliu.

He actually thought of working together with Lu Man. He not only did not offend her, but he also tried his best to work with her.

Such that the viewership ratings of Classic X Files at present was really very high.

“What the other stations do, we can’t do anything about. I will tell Chief Hu of the Broadcasting Station later to try not to offend Lu Man in the future.” Ge Guangzhen could only admit defeat. He really was not able to deal with Lu Man.

Furthermore, Lu Man did not purposely target them. She was helping Classic X Files, and she was targetting the show that was competing with it.

Even if Xing Ke Station were to try to make trouble for Lu Man, there was no reason to.

Not until The Performer and Classic X Files had both finished airing.

The netizens almost broke down. “My gosh, I was spammed the whole night on my social media about Classic X Files, it is really too much.”

“Then did you go and watch it?”

“Of course I did. If I didn’t watch that, I’d have nothing to do online either. This show is being talked about everywhere, so I went to watch.”

“I was also attracted by the short clips on Weibo.”

“I was originally watching The Performer, but I saw these things and had no more heart to watch that show. I just focused on watching the clips.”

“For Classic X Files to use this sort of crude publicity method. If they do it again, I will really puke.”

“Who thought up this scheme? It’s really too painful. I’m really about to be brainwashed.”

Chapter 1055: Pulling Customers as Publicity

“This sort of publicity technique to get customers, who else do you think came up with it?”

Lu Man’s fans happily stood up. “Hahahahahaha, of course it is our Goddess of Fury Man!”

“Publicity techniques akin to pulling customers, this term is very suitable.”

“I’m just curious about the viewership ratings of the two shows tomorrow. They’ve been fighting so much, and from how the situation looks, quite a lot of people changed the channel to watch Classic X Files.”

“I’m also curious!”

Even Lu Man herself was curious about what the results of today would be like.

When Han Zhuoli asked about it, she said, “I have confidence that I can help Classic X Files win, but I am just not sure about how big a margin they will win by, whether or not they can totally suppress The Performer and win like they did in the first episode.”

Han Zhuoli was not as lacking in confidence as Lu Man. When it came to Lu Man, he had even more confidence than she had in herself.

“You will definitely win by a big margin.” When Han Zhuoli said that, he had already taken the remote control and switched off the television.

Lu Man was distracted by trying to estimate the results and did not notice.

Han Zhuoli threw the remote control down and suddenly lifted Lu Man up. He lifted her up such that she lay in his embrace horizontally.

Lu Man was shocked and even yelled out. Her two arms tightly wrapped around Han Zhuoli’s neck while her whole person was tightly hugged by Han Zhuoli.

“What are you scared about? I’m holding you.” Full of power, Han Zhuoli hugged her and even shifted her a bit.

Because Lu Man was really too light, so light that he could not feel her weight at all.

Even while carrying her like that, he did not feel any stress at all.

Before then, Lu Man had not been mentally prepared, but now that she knew that she was being carried by Han Zhuoli, no matter what, Lu Man would not feel scared. She directly buried her face in his chest.

She then heard Han Zhuoli say, “Now that you’re done watching the show, will you sleep?”

Lu Man felt that the words he said were quite normal, but since they’d come from his mouth, was there some sort of other meaning?

As he spoke, his hot breath burned her ear. Without even looking, she knew that her ears and face were extremely red.

Even his burning lips, which were rubbing on her ear, made Lu Man shiver.

She was carried onto the bed. Han Zhuoli immediately kissed her on the lips. “When I saw your confidence in handling business just now, I wanted you there and then.”

Han Zhuoli could not refute the fact that he was a very prideful and vain man.

In the past, he never felt that he was like that.

Since birth, he’d had whatever he wanted and had no need to be envious of others.

He had what others lacked. Because he owned too much and had everything at his fingertips, he could not be bothered with bragging about it to others.

Because from birth, his understanding was that what he owned was ordinary. From birth, that was commonplace, and he did not realize that most of those things were what others could never have in their entire life.

To him, they were ordinary items, so what was there to brag about? Was there anything worthy of vanity?

When he became cognizant of the fact that not everyone had what he had, he was past the age of vanity.

As such, he was never vain.

But because of Lu Man, he suddenly had that thought. It was the first time in his life he had experienced such a feeling.

No one could handle this little girl who had the ability to irritate someone to the point that their teeth would itch. But in his arms, she would cry and beg while he was teasing her.

How could he not feel full of pride?

This deeply satisfied his pride and vanity as a man!

Was Lu Man someone who would easily admit defeat?

Chapter 1056: Drop in Intelligence

Lu Man wrapped her hands around Han Zhuoli's neck and raised her head to kiss him on his lips. She even gently bit down on them with a twinkle in her eyes. "So many ladies like you. Dai Yiran would even go to jail for you. And yet you are mine, for which I am very satisfied."

"Let us satisfy each other." Han Zhuoli laughed slightly and pinned Lu Man down.

The more Han Zhuoli thought about how she dealt with others with such composure and spunk that riled them up, the more excited he became. It was almost as if he was filled with inexhaustible energy.

In the end, Lu Man slumped wearily into Han Zhuoli's embrace. Han Zhuoli lay on his back. Both of them could feel the rise and fall of each other's chest as they breathed.

As Lu Man recalled the incident where she squashed Han Zhuoli by sleeping in his arms until he was numb, she turned over to leave.

Who'd have thought that Han Zhuoli would pin her down and immobilize her?

"Don't squash me until I am numb," Lu Man said helplessly.

"That, I am happy to do." Han Zhuoli placed his hands on her back, his fingers unconsciously twirling her hair.

The sensation within this moment where the brain was still in a slight daze was exceptionally good.

"I just remembered something," Han Zhuoli said suddenly.

Just as Lu Man was behaving oddly, Han Zhuoli scooped her up and placed her to one side. He rolled off the bed and squatted in front of the bedside cabinet.

Inside the cabinet was a safe.

Lu Man: "..."

She saw Han Zhuoli skillfully enter the password, open the door of the safe, and retrieve two marriage certificates.

Lu Man: "..."

"You stored the marriage certificates in the safe?" Lu Man asked.

What kind of scheme was this?

Unexpectedly, Han Zhuoli nodded in all seriousness. "I'm afraid that you will take the marriage certificate to file for divorce."

Lu Man: "..."

"Firstly, I know the passcode to the safe. Secondly, filing for divorce requires that both parties carry out." Lu Man lifted her finger and said, "Also, is it okay that you are thinking about divorce when you just got married?"

Han Zhuoli suddenly felt that his level of intelligence appeared to have declined after getting married.

Was this the slackening that comes after getting a wife?

"I am taking precautions." Han Zhuoli pushed his chest out and pretended to be confident as though he had thought about it beforehand.

Lu Man went over and lay on the side of the bed. With one hand propping her chin, she was very close to Han Zhuoli's face. "Furthermore, with such a great husband like you, I would not want to get a divorce. It's not like I am stupid. Many people are envious of me. I am so lucky to have met you and married you. I will definitely treasure this blessing. Why would I get a divorce?"

Lu Man extended her hand and pinched Han Zhuoli's ear to pull him over.

Despite being a CEO, Han Zhuoli, at this moment where he was being controlled by his wife, had no image to maintain before Lu Man.

"You are not allowed to let your thoughts run wild and spout nonsense. I will not divorce you!" The word "divorce" seemed to have touched a nerve with Lu Man, as it had become a taboo topic for her. Lu Man hurriedly let out "pei pei" sounds. "No, you are not allowed to even speak of the word!"

Lu Man stared at him listlessly. It was all Han Zhuoli's fault for bringing this up for no rhyme or reason.

Han Zhouli took back the marriage certificate. He grabbed Lu Man's hand again and began analyzing and comparing.

"What are you looking at?" Lu Man asked curiously.

"I am thinking about which pose is better." Han Zhuoli grabbed Lu Man's hand and flipped it back and forth to analyze it.

Finally, he left the back of Lu Man's hand facing up while grabbing the certificate.

Chapter 1057: How Is Being Lazy Acceptable?

Han Zhuoli also made such a movement, and four of his fingers overlapped Lu Man's fingers. Both of their hands formed a heart shape.

Coincidentally, their wedding rings were also shown.

Then, Han Zhuoli took a photo.

The room had only one light on. The rays from the sunset blanketed both of their hands. The photo appeared as though it was taken with a filter, blurry and romantic.

Han Zhuoli opened the “eight-eight-sixty-four” WeChat group and posted the photo.

He then sent a short message: “I keep forgetting to tell you all, Lu Man and I have collected our marriage certificate already.”

Han Zhuoli was very happy and looked forward to the response from them.

Alas, after 5 minutes, 10 minutes, 15 minutes had passed, no one responded to the message!

“They must be really jealous of our marriage!” Han Zhuoli pointed to the phone screen, livid.

“...” Lu Man reminded him impatiently, “Many of them are also married, such as Qi Chengzhi, Yan Beicheng, Qi Chenglin, Yan Huaian, Wei Zilin...”

Lu Man counted. “It appears that not many are unmarried.”

Han Zhuoli: “...”

“Then it must be those who are unmarried who are jealous of my marriage!” Han Zhuoli insisted.

“...” Lu Man pointed at the time on the phone. “You, look at what time it is. They may already be asleep.”

“Why would they sleep so early?” Han Zhuoli was very unhappy. “Each one of them is supposed to be the head of a family and the entire group, how could they be so lazy? If they are not working until two or three, how can they be the head of a family or a CEO?”

Lu Man: “...”

Could you not say such stuff when lying on the bed?

You saying such things are not convincing at all.

“Don’t forget, many of them are already married with kids. They would have to accompany their wife and kids. It is normal for them to sleep earlier,” said Lu Man.

“No, this is not acceptable!” Han Zhuoli said righteously.

Then, Lu Man saw him opening his contact book on his phone and calling every single one of them.

“Chengzhi? Are you asleep? Not yet? That’s great, open the WeChat group.”

“Beicheng, are you asleep? Sleeping? Now you would be awake, right? Since you’re awake, open the WeChat group.”

“Chenglin, not sleeping yet? Sleeping? If you are asleep, wake up and look at the WeChat group.

“Zhaoyang, are you asleep? Then wake up and enter the WeChat group.”

“Zhunan, are you asleep? Since you are already awake, don’t go back to sleep. Look at the WeChat group.”

Lu Man listened to Han Zhuoli as he woke Chu Zhaoyang and the rest up individually like a gust of cold wind.

“Qianzi, don’t sleep. As a single man, what is the point of you sleeping so early? Wake up!” Han Zhuoli said. “Look at the WeChat group before sleeping.”

“Jingheng, you’re not asleep, right? What? Sleeping? Aren’t you the owner of a bar? How can you sleep so early?”

Han Jingheng: “Who says that the boss of a bar cannot sleep early?”

“Aiyo, from your voice, you sound quite energetic. It seems you are already awake, so just look at the WeChat group.”

Lu Man: “...”

Han Zhuoli’s malice towards the single men appeared to be greater.

She felt bad for Wei Zhiqian and Nan Jingheng.

But nevertheless, Han Zhuoli’s usual aloof appearance would sometimes be replaced with his craziness. Even Lu Man did not know when he would go crazy.

Even after waking Chu Zhaoyang and the rest up individually, he still did not say much and only asked them to look at the WeChat group.

Lu Man was just waiting for them to scold him.

Now was a good time to enter the group and wait and see.

Chapter 1058: Stay Away from Me

Sure enough, Wei Zhiqian could be seen saying in a flustered manner, “Han Zhuoli, are you crazy? Instead of sleeping, you wake me up in the middle of the night. Tell me directly over the phone that you have collected your marriage certificate. Letting me know about it from the group, are you ill? Lu Man, come quickly and see if he is sick!”

Lu Man could feel Wei Zhiqian’s grievances and anger through the screen.

Qi Chengzhi: “Oh, you have collected the marriage certificate already. I saw it. Congratulations.”

Chu Zhaoyang: “Congratulations.”

Wei Zilin: “Qianzi has finally said something reasonable. Wouldn’t it have been enough if you mentioned that you have received the marriage certificate over the phone just now? Why have us look in the group?”

Han Zhuoli: “All of you didn’t see my message, so wasn’t it sent out for nothing?”

Qi Chenglin: “You win, you win.”

Yan Beicheng: "Lu Man, quickly tie him up. His illness has relapsed again."

No matter how these people poked at him, Han Zhuoli felt blissful because he had achieved his goal.

Wei Ziqi: "Alright, we all know that you two are married. Can we sleep now?"

Chu Zhaoyang: "Good night."

Yan Huaian: "Was just about to %djfl#¥ with Yu Zi..."

"..." Lu Man looked at the screen in shock. "What do the garbled symbols mean?"

The corner of Han Zhuoli's mouth twitched. "He was probably about to say that he was preparing to have a negative-distance bed workout with Yu Zi. Before he could finish writing, Yu Yu must have slapped the phone to his face."

Lu Man: "..."

He deserved it!

How could he have said something like that so casually?

Nan Jingheng: "I also have to go to sleep, I'm out."

Lu Man thought, if Han Zhuoli dared to say "What is the point of sleeping, get up" at this moment, these people would probably charge to his door with an ax to grind.

Fortunately, Han Zhuoli did not continue to court death and allowed them to go to bed.

However, on his own side, Han Zhuoli was still not willing to rest.

He looked at the photos just stored on his phone, then looked at the marriage certificate, and then at the wedding ring on Lu Man's finger and his.

After repeating this a few times, Han Zhuoli finally opened up Weibo.

His previous Weibo post was still on the engagement news.

He now posted the following new announcement: "From the ninth day onwards, I am a wedded man. Other ladies, please stay further away from me."

He then attached the photo that was just taken.

If the last sentence were to be said by someone else, that person would probably be scolded as being shameless.

But coming from Han Zhuoli, the statement came across as being truthful.

Lu Man smiled widely as she hugged his arm, her face resting on his chest.

How could this guy be so adorable?

Han Zhuoli was elated, but his comment section exploded.

“CEO, you are too cruel! Your last Weibo post was about the engagement, then after a long period of silence, you suddenly post about your marriage. I cannot accept this!”

“If other people said the last sentence, they would be labeled as shameless. Why does it seem exceptionally cute coming from CEO Han?”

“It is probably because he is telling the truth.”

“But there is no need to say it so explicitly! Back then, when people like Qi Chengzhi and Chu Zhaoyang announced their marriages, they did not say such things.”

“Then he really is shameless”.

“Oh oh oh, don’t say such things about my ex-husband!”

“Ex-husband hahahahaha, lol!”

“It can’t be helped. CEO Han is married and wants other women to stay away from him, so I can only be his ex-wife.”

“However, I don’t know who the lucky lady who has become Han Zhuoli’s wife is. I’m so envious!”

Chapter 1059: Be Jealous

“Yes, Han Zhuoli is different from the rich second-generation heirs. Look at the news, they will be with this female star today and a different female star the next day. The scandals never end. But Han Zhuoli has never appeared in such news. With him being in-charge of an entertainment empire, these female artistes are more than willing to suck up to him with no qualms about how wild they can be. But Han Zhuoli was never involved in such matters. This means that despite being in a group full of gorgeous ladies, he turned a blind eye to them. Please don’t let this kind of grounded and principled man be too rare.”

“Don’t compare Han Zhuoli with the rich second-generation heirs. There is no basis for comparison. The eight large families do not compare to the normal rich second generation.”

“That’s right. I am not sure who his wife is, or how they met, or why she appeared so suddenly. Previously, I never heard that he was dating. His ability to keep the news under wraps is too impressive. The announcement of his engagement and marriage was so sudden.”

“He managed to conceal it so well. It can’t be that his other half is male?”

“The person above, you better open your eyes and look. The hand Han Zhuoli is holding is a female’s hand. If he were married to a man, would the Civil Affairs Bureau issue a marriage certificate? Please use your brain and think it through!”

“Ah! I am so envious of his wife! With a diamond-grade husband who has that face, no one would get bored even after staring at it for 24 hours a day. Even if he were broke, I would be willing to support him for life!”

“The person above, wake up, stop dreaming.”

Lu Man lay in Han Zhuoli’s arms and read those comments with him.

Even though she could have read the comments on her phone, she enjoyed reading on the same screen with Han Zhuoli.

Lu Man was originally so tired that she wanted to sleep. In the end, she became especially awake, all thanks to Han Zhuoli.

Han Zhuoli laughed as he looked at Lu Man, who did a roll in his arms from time to time.

He reached out to stop Lu Man from moving about in his arms. "Are you that happy?"

"The netizen's conversations are pretty interesting." Lu Man laughed until her face turned red.

With eyes that were clouded with a faint mist and with bright red cheeks below, it looked like dew forming on a peach blossom.

Han Zhuoli liked it like crazy. He lowered his head and gave her a peck below her eyes. It was slightly hot. It was as though he could really smell the fragrance of peach blossoms.

"Seeing how so many people like your husband, how are you not jealous?" Han Zhuoli asked.

No longer was he the man who would not let any woman get close to him during business trips.

Lu Man smiled and said, "It is not like they have any real intentions of doing anything to you. They are just saying it for fun. Besides, separated by the web, they are far away from you. Also, take a look at their conversations, they are really interesting. Although many of them complain about being reluctant or unwilling to accept it, in the end, they would always give us their blessings. Envy without jealousy—this is very cute, why should I be jealous?"

Lu Man lay in his arms and raised her head to look at him. "I will be jealous only of women like Dai Yiran and Wang Qianyun, who have set their eyes on you and are able to touch you."

Han Zhuoli picked out the meaning from her words and asked in surprise, "So you are jealous of them?"

Lu Man thought, it can't be that this man was also quite insecure, right?

He was so desperate in wanting to see her jealous.

"Of course, because they like you. They intend to make moves on you and break us up. I am not only jealous, I am also very angry." Lu Man poked his chest.

Chapter 1060: Not Allowed to Divorce!

She narrowed her eyes. "You haven't seen me really jealous. I tell you, I am very scary when I am jealous. You better not make me jealous!"

There were no frightening threats in Lu Man's words, but the back of Han Zhuoli's neck turned cold as he listened.

He always felt that if he were to do something to make Lu Man really jealous, he would definitely be digging a big hole, the kind that he could not fill up.

Han Zhuoli was so scared that he quickly hugged Lu Man tightly. "Don't be jealous, don't be jealous. I will not make you jealous in the future."

Lu Man was all smiles as she lay in Han Zhuoli's arms. She buried her face so as not to let Han Zhouli see the sly smile on it after getting her way.

Actually, given this man's level of self-consciousness, how could he make her jealous?

She felt safe regardless of whether he was around her or not. She would never believe that he would let other women get close to him.

He simply did not give her any chance to be jealous.

As such, she just said those things to scare him, lest he remained unhappy about the fact that she was not jealous.

Unexpectedly, she heard Han Zhuoli say, "No divorce!"

Lu Man: "..."

How did this conversation end up about divorce?

How scared was he of a divorce?!

"Even if I get jealous again, it will not be to the extent of wanting to get a divorce." Lu Man hugged Han Zhuoli to reassure him. "Don't worry."

Only then did Han Zhuoli let out a sigh of relief.

He lowered his head and kissed her. "Let's sleep."

Lu Man laughed to herself. "Well, good night."

She lifted her head and gave him a peck on his jaw.

***

On the second day, Han Zhuoli returned to work. His spring holiday had passed.

However, Lu Man was still on winter vacation. She was idle with nothing to do, so she could wake up naturally.

At 9 o'clock, Lu Man woke up because she remembered the viewership ratings of Classic X Files and The Performer.

She cleaned up and finished her breakfast. At around 9:45, she gave Lu Dongliu a call.

"Lu Man!" Lu Dongliu's current attitude towards Lu Man was exceptionally pleasant.

Every time he picked up her call, it was as though she was being greeted by the elderly in her hometown—he was always exceptionally enthusiastic.

"Director Lu," Lu Man said as she smiled. "Have the viewership ratings been released?"

"Not yet. They will be released at 10:30," Lu Dongliu said. "You called this early just to ask about this?"

Lu Dongliu was extremely touched. Lu Man had too much professionalism—she even managed the after-sales support.

“That right. I am also not sure how much the gap can be widened. I do not know what to expect, which is why I am anxious about the result,” Lu Man said truthfully.

“I am more confident than you are. Anyway, it doesn’t matter how far we can pull ahead, so long as we can win against them.” Lu Dongliu’s expectations were not very high.

Because his hopes were not high, there would not be much of a difference when he sees the results.

“You are trying not to give me pressure,” Lu Man said, smiling. “All the more I hope to deliver a brilliant victory. I would ask you again at 10:30, then.”

“There’s no need, there’s no need,” Lu Dongliu said. “Once the results are out, I would send you the form via WeChat immediately.”

“Alright, then, thank you,” Lu Man said with a smile.

“You’re welcome, you’re welcome.” Lu Dongliu happily hung up the phone.

Meeting a responsible person like Lu Man and working together with her made him feel great.

Ge Guangzhen, who was simultaneously waiting for the viewership ratings and becoming increasingly unsettled, could no longer sit still in his office. He paced back and forth.

When Assistant Xiao Liu walked in, Ge Guangzhen immediately asked, “How was it? Are the viewership ratings out?”

Assistant Xiao Liu was stiff and gave a dispirited nod.