

Mr Han 47

Chapter 47: Give Me Your Phone Number

But everything was alright as long as it went smoothly.

Lu Man followed Xia Qingwei back to the hospital room. Auntie Chai and Wu Zhiguo were in the room too, worried about Xia Qingwei's surgery.

Originally, Auntie Chai and Wu Zhiguo were waiting outside the operation theatre too. However, as Auntie Chai was a patient herself, Lu Man could not let her wait around either. Hence, she persuaded Wu Zhiguo to take Auntie Chai back to the hospital room to rest.

Also, Wu Zhiguo knew that they would be of no help there either, and instead Lu Man would have to look after them as well.

She was already worried about Xia Qingwei. Feeling bad that Lu Man would have to look after them as well and get distracted, they returned to the hospital room first.

At this moment, they saw Xia Qingwei being pushed into the room and Lu Man following closely behind.

Auntie Chai asked anxiously, "Lu Man, is your mother alright?"

Lu Man smiled reassuringly. "My mother's operation was successful. I really have to thank you and Uncle Wu this time. Without you two, I wouldn't have been able to handle it alone. My mother must have inconvenienced you."

"No, not at all." Auntie Chai waved her hand quickly. "This is the hospital, she could not have troubled us at all. Also, we couldn't be of much help either."

"Please don't say that. You and Uncle Wu have helped me a great deal," Lu Man said gratefully.

"Because of me both of you have got so tired. Auntie Chai, please go ahead and rest if you're tired."

"Yeah," Auntie Chai was indeed rather tired and yawned. "Since your mother is well, I can rest peacefully... I'll just take a short nap. If anything, feel free to ask Uncle Wu for help."

Just as Auntie Chai was about to lie down, she noticed Han Zhuoli standing behind Lu Man and froze.

"This person is—"

It was found it impossible for him to be this tall and handsome!

Auntie Chai felt that at her age, no matter how handsome a person was, it was like she was looking at a child.

However, looking at Han Zhuoli, she could not resist the blush that crept up her wrinkled face.

Oh my gosh!

How could a man be this good-looking?

As he entered through the door, it was as if a light shone down upon him. She was blinded by his dazzling beauty.

Dumbstruck, Lu Man replied sheepishly, "He's my friend."

After speaking, she quietly took a stealthy glance at Han Zhuoli.

Calling Han Zhuoli a friend was honestly a little presumptuous of her, but she did not know how else to introduce him.

She was indeed not close to Han Zhuoli.

However, Han Zhuoli did not seem to reject her words and even unanimously greeted Auntie Chai and Wu Zhiguo.

His attitude utterly baffled Lu Man.

What exactly did Han Zhuoli want?

Lu Man looked at Xia Qingwei who was currently lying in bed. The doctor had said that at soonest, she would wake up in the middle of the night. However, under normal circumstances, she should wake up by tomorrow morning.

"Mr Han, it's all thanks to you today for coming to the hospital. However, you must have other matters to attend." With a smile on her face, Lu Man said, "Why don't you go on ahead?"

Moreover, Han Zhuoli's presence was making her quite uncomfortable.

However, in his mind, Han Zhuoli quietly scolded her for being a little ungrateful.

He had just helped her, yet now she was chasing him away.

Han Zhuoli clenched his teeth and said, "Give me your phone number."

Lu Man was shocked. Without slightest of hesitation, she replied, "What would you need my phone number for?"

Han Zhuoli scoffed. "Aren't you planning to pay me back my money?"

"I'm not someone who would run away from my debt. If I'd said so, I will definitely pay you back." Lu Man frowned and grumbled secretly to herself. Just now you even mentioned that there was no hurry to pay you back, so you were clearly pretending to be generous.

Han Zhuoli pursed his lips. "If you don't remember my phone number, how are you planning to pay me back?"

"Oh, right!" Lu Man smacked her forehead and apologized sheepishly. "Sorry, I forgot about that."

He was right, she really did not know how to contact Han Zhuoli.

Also, it was impossible for her to go to Han Corporation to find him.