

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1002

"It wasn't a thief. It's fine," she said softly, not wanting him to worry.

"Are you sure?"

After a pause, he blurted, "I'm coming home now!"

"It's fine!"

Lily rubbed her temples as she frowned and said, "Look, I'm here talking to you. Everything's fine. The person left. Don't listen to what the maids are saying. They're just nervous, and you know how they like to make a fuss."

On top of the fact that the maids were all regular people, Alexander had instilled in them that Lily's safety and comfort came first.

They were to inform him whenever she felt uncomfortable.

Therefore, they would even rush to her when she descended the stairs.

Now that there was a thief that fought her, it surprised Lily that none of them passed out.

"Are they making a big fuss, or are you downplaying things?"

Alexander sighed from the other end of the phone. She knew how he was, and he also understood how she thought.

order to not let him worry, she would always only tell him the

"It's really fine."

softly, "I fought with the person who broke in. I think she's just here to test my skills. I think she knows what I'm capable of. She must be from a family of kickboxers as well. I don't think

"You fought her?!"

amplified, and she subconsciously pulled

"I'm fine. I-"

finished speaking, he had known this would

home. He ran to Lily and held her hands nervously, any discomfort? Let me take you to

was ready to pick her

"Stop!"

him, trying to calm

fine! Look,

Frowning, he scrutinized her.

indeed

any external injuries, it doesn't mean

best if we go to the hospital was speechless! This guy wasn't convinced! "Alexander president, the indifferent man that everyone knew? This was