

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1044

As if what mattered most to her was being destroyed before her eyes, Hannah bawled as she spoke.

Seeing the tears on her sister's face, Heather's anger reached its peak instead.

'When has she ever cried like this? I had beaten her and locked her up for half a year, and she had never cried and made a scene like now. As a mere substitute and a shadow of mine, she shouldn't have her own thoughts, and yet she is begging me to let her have the stupid ring!'

'With her shoulder injured, she can't even lift her arm. What kind of power pushes her to grab my hand for the ring?'

Heather thought she was wrong to underestimate Ralph Russell's influence over Hannah. She never expected that a d*uchebag like him could undo her years of nurturing Hannah and make her rebel against her. 'I must never let her keep the ring!'

Having made the decision, her gaze turned grim, and she jerked her hand before kicking Hannah. "F*ck off!"

severe that Hannah flew and crashed heavily onto a chair. Falling every breath she took hurt, and she felt as if her internal organs had switched places. However, as she opened her eyes, diamond had fallen off somewhere. Heather tossed it over, and it dropped before snorted mockingly. "I thought the first time she had eyed her sister with such anger and gave a brief moment. She was used to not taking Hannah seriously, Riggs family for having such a rule. It's her fault that she couldn't be somebody and let her leave the order and said, "Bandage