

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1045

Having been agitated while suffering from the wound, Heather could hardly sleep that night. She was in a bad mood, feeling a headache and pain in her chest.

She got up to take a sip of water. She reached out for her phone and realized she had smashed it. 'Well, I guess I've got to get a new one.'

Bored to have stayed at home for two days, she decided to go out while thinking about what she should do next. Now that Alexander knew what she was trying to do, it would be hard to get the secret handbook. There would be no point in going to Alexander's house again, as the handbook would no longer be there.

However, having spent years trying to find it, she couldn't give up now. 'My head!'

She ate a painkiller and tried to pull herself together. Looking at her reflection in the mirror, she found herself getting thinner and looking more like Hannah, who had always been slimmer.

She grew dismayed thinking about her.

"Chump!" Walking over to the bedroom door, she opened it and shouted.

came over soon.

she?" She asked

use mentioning the name as he knew flesh wound, the shoulder bones have slightly cracked, but sister's injury would

Hannah's emotional state, and Chump glanced up at her,

could only answer truthfully, "She was quiet and fell asleep did not throw a tantrum?" Heather

Chump shook his head.

out a sigh, but she could not tell if she was relieved or disappointed. She had mixed feelings toward her she would not be whole if the girl died one scar, the sister could not be removed whether she liked her or not, and Heather might even be sad