

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1062

Ralph had figured it out long ago.

"Mom, I've already thought about this. You don't need to do too much. This book is probably in his own house. Heather went to inquire about it, but the house has a lot of traps, so it doesn't look that simple. Why would his house be set up that way if there weren't any treasures inside?"

He looked up and around, saying, "Our old house is quite simple, with just ordinary security measures. His neighborhood is the best in the city. Maybe he's hiding something behind those doors."

Ralph was so focused on thinking that Alexander must have hidden the secret in the house that he felt there must be something.

danger and kidnapping since he was a child. His defense skills may seem exaggerated to outsiders, but for the people already confirmed his thoughts, this thought, Margaret began to wave her hands repeatedly. "No, no, I can't! Don't you remember how they disrespected me when I visited them last time? They probably won't let me even

She was mistreated as an

that Margaret wanted to go and look for it. I mean, I can go in and look for it myself. But it's very troublesome together, Margaret instantly understood, "Are you asking I lure

Ralph praised her