

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1064

Looking back, he felt like a monkey being tricked. He thought he was charming and could easily win her heart, but he did not expect that she wanted him only for that stupid secret handbook.

That meant all of the previous actions, kisses, and coaxing was just for that stupid handbook?

What kind of woman was she? He had never met such a woman, and he did not know what to do with her.

Now that he had figured it out, it did not matter anymore. He was not so obsessed with getting married to her anymore. There were many other people out there for him to choose from, so why would he limit himself to Heather alone?

After gaining the shares from the Riggs and taking over the Russell family, he could quickly get any woman he wanted. It would be better than keeping a ticking bomb by his side. Thinking about it that way, he felt much more comforted. The most urgent thing was to get his hands on the secret handbook.

and was not in a hurry. Margaret needed some time to lure them away. After they left, it would be convenient house, Margaret smiled, looked at Lily amiably, and said, "I was too strict with you earlier, but now I have figured it of gold bracelets was my dowry when I got married. Although the style may be old-fashioned, the design is still at the pair of bracelets in front of her and lightly denied them," Grandma, these are too shiny, and it looked precious. Margaret had gift to you!" Before Lily could refuse again, Margaret continued, "If you don't accept it, it means you don't forgive me.

Alexander, sitting next to her. Recently, he had been working touch those bottles and jars when she was free. He wanted her to have

"Since grandma said so, you can accept it. It's a gift