

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 1068

Ralph had intentionally turned on his phone speaker so that the gatekeeper could hear what Alexander said. "So, can I enter now?"

Since the property owner had agreed, there was no reason for the gatekeeper to stop him. Ralph drove his car slowly into Alexander's house as he felt a sense of accomplishment.

Alexander's residence was a place not easily accessible to just anyone, including him. Ralph could not help but feel proud of himself as he waltzed freely into the compound. When he got to the living room, he saw maids all around, searching meticulously for the ring.

"I'll search for it on my own. You us to help," one of the ring looks like! Besides, just because Alexander trusts you doesn't mean I do! My mother's ring cost a fortune and could even be considered our family heirloom. How would I know if you'd be tempted to keep it when you find it?"

in Mr. Russell's household for I've said that just because Alexander trusts you, doesn't mean I do. What you're looking for now is my mother's ring. If we still can't find it, are you willing to take the responsibility?" Ralph walked toward the living room, "If you let me look for it on my own, it won't be your responsibility if I can't find it, or else, were not willing to just leave either. Ralph was getting restless as they were only wasting precious time. Alexander's household was just like even if I wanted to. If you continue to obstruct me, I'll call the police and get them to question you for trying to steal my mother's ring on his own, and Mr. Russell had also given us his instructions, we'll gladly leave