

Spoiled by Mr. Russell by Luminous Night Chapter 231-235

Chapter 231

“Cheers!” The atmosphere in the small room was grand, even if only three of them were there. They could hardly contain their excitement.

“Never had I imagined that you could succeed in such a short period. I’m pleasantly surprised!” Jenny exclaimed.

She had already seen the successful samples this morning. The girls gave her a sample to try yesterday, which smelled amazing. It was indeed a wonderful fragrance! “We’ve told you that the formula was a success. Honestly, this is nothing. Lily could develop a new fragrance and finish it within a month!” Olivia clarified while she ate.

“Really? Within a month! This means you could come up with countless new perfumes in a year!” Just counting the number of products Lily could produce already excited Jenny. Besides, she had seen what Lily was capable of, so she was not worried about the quality at all.

“Now, that’s not entirely true. Without inspiration and a clear vision, it would take me over three months to develop a good idea. Hopefully, you won’t get mad and fire me!” Lily turned to Jenny and joked.

Jenny laughed loudly. “I wish I had that kind of ability! Remember when you first came to Rebirth...” she paused and looked at Olivia, “You weren’t here yet, so you didn’t know about it. When Lily first came to our company, I didn’t want her under me, I almost fought with Mr. Will, yet it changed nothing! I was suspicious that she had some sort of connection with someone in the company. I was sure she did!” Jenny hit the table loudly as she finished speaking Olivia glanced at Lily playfully and thought, ‘Well, Jenny’s right. Lily does have a connection. An unbelievable one!’

Olivia smiled wickedly and urged Jenny to continue, “Then, who was Lily’s connection?”

Jenny turned to look at Lily this time and pouted. “Turns out she didn’t have any connections at all! I had no choice since I couldn’t make her leave the company, so I devised problems for her to solve. I thought she wouldn’t be able to survive and would leave! Still, she proved me wrong.

“I knew then that her skills would keep her in the company regardless of her connections! She’s a talented perfumer. Honestly, I’m not worried that you’d leave our company. I believe that you’ll someday be a legend in this industry!” Jenny confessed. This was such high praise, and Lily thanked her calmly, “You’re too kind!” “I’m serious! Don’t forget to help us out when you’ve achieved that status. Don’t forget us!” Jenny said while downing another glass. She had been drinking quite a bit and was even stuttering slightly.

“Jenny, I think you’re drunk!” Olivia said while holding onto her.

“Drunk? No, I’m not! Don’t you know that I’m a heavy drinker? This amount of alcohol is nothing! When I’m on a business trip, I’d have to...” Jenny stopped abruptly as her hands immediately covered her mouth. She was feeling nauseous. “Jenny, are you okay? Why don’t we leave now?” Looking at her condition, Olivia concluded it was time for them to leave. “Leave? It’s still too early! Besides, this is a rare opportunity for us to sit and chat!” Jenny patted Lily on the back of her hand and turned to Olivia to do the same.

She pulled them closer, “I like the two of you. Everyone in the office is afraid of me. To them, I’m just a monster that gives them lots of work and stress. However, it’s not my intention. To survive in this industry, you have to be tough. Competition is fierce, and you’ll only get eliminated if you can’t survive that!”

Chapter 232

Jenny had a lot she wanted to share. It was as if she had been trying to find an outlet to express everything she had suppressed. “Honestly, I think our department is not so bad. Even though our stress level could be sky-high, we could always look for new customers and deals. However, it’s a different story for perfumers. They’re...”

Jenny shook her head and continued, “Lily’s abilities are unbelievable, and I don’t mean within Rebirth. Look at our country. We can’t find someone as outstanding as you, let alone those with a world ranking. Rebirth has never been short of perfumers, but a talented perfumer is hard to find! Lily, when I look at you, I can see hope!”

Jenny lifted her hand and patted Lily’s shoulder. Her pat was firm, and it made Lily wobble to her side.

“I’m confident we’ll be able to win the annual perfume event,” Lily promised after quietly listening to Jenny’s confession.

Jenny was instantly sober when she heard what Lily said. Her eyes were wide open as she stared at Lily. Olivia was also looking at Lily with a surprised expression. This was the first time she had seen Lily so confident after working with her for so long. Lily was always buried in her research, coming up with ideas and producing popular fragrances. Even then, she had never been this self-assured. It was as if she had already won the championship

“Lily, being in the top three is more than enough for me.” Jenny sat up straight and took a deep breath.

Winning the championship was just unimaginable! Although there were few gifted perfumers in the industry, the standards were still high. Not just anyone could be a perfumer. They needed to at least be good at it.

She truly believed in Lily’s capabilities and had over-hyped her moments ago, but their country was enormous. Who knew if there was another Lily or someone equal in terms of abilities? On the other hand, there were also those older perfumers who had lots of experience. So, it was difficult to determine who would win the annual perfume competition.

Jenny was worried that she had indirectly stressed Lily out and was trying to salvage the situation, "Actually, you don't have to aim for the champion. You just started at Rebirth, so you don't have to..." "Don't worry, just trust me!" Lily squeezed Jenny's hand softly and stood up. "I need to use the bathroom."

Jenny watched in shock as Lily walked out of the room. Olivia was also stunned. They looked at each other for a while as Jenny pointed in the direction Lily left, "W—Was she always so... confident?"

Lily never cared about fame. She never sounded proud of her work nor cared about joining competitions, winning awards, or even if her perfume got into the production line. She never cared about anything. According to her, Nathaniel was responsible for this and loved how to do it well.

Lily had once revealed that she was worried that something might be wrong with her perfumes. Even though they had done countless trial tests on them, she still could not be a hundred percent sure about them.

Olivia believed this behavior was probably because of the backlash she received from her last competition. She had been unnerved. However, after leaving Nathaniel and MN Inc., Lily changed. She was a whole new person. Just like the name of her new company, she had been reborn!

Chapter 233

On the way to the bathroom, Lily passed by other rooms. Coincidentally, someone walked out from one of the rooms. When the door closed behind her, she saw a familiar face. Even though it was just for a short while, she was sure it was him. She continued walking to the bathroom. After washing her hands and drying them, she came out. A tall figure was leaning against the wall in front of the bathroom, waiting for her.

"I was right," Justin exclaimed as he straightened up himself.

"You've always had sharp eyesight," Lily smiled, "Now, could you please excuse me?"

Justin blocked the path with his body and asked, "Why are you here?"

Lily smirked, "I'm here for the same reason you are. Why? Is this hotel one of your properties as well? Am I not welcome here?"

"You still refuse to go back to the Lodge family?" Justin frowned. He was unhappy with the tone she was using.

"The Lodge family, huh? I'll return someday, but now's not the right time," she said.

"When is the right time?" Justin asked.

Seeing that Lily refused to answer his question, he continued coldly, "I've heard about your case. You didn't handle it well, but luckily, you didn't bring any unwanted trouble to the family. Seeing that you still refuse to come back home, mind your behavior. You're still part of the Lodge family, and we can't have you embarrassing the family name."

"Rest assured, as I have nothing to do with the Lodge family!" Lily looked at him with cold eyes, brushed past him, and waved without turning around.

Justin stood there for a few seconds before turning to leave. He narrowed his eyes sharply toward where Lily had disappeared to.

Both Jenny and Olivia did not expect that Lily would be the one who had too much to drink. After Lily returned from the bathroom, she went hard and ordered a few more pints of beer and two bottles of red wine. She even wanted to add a white wine but was stopped by the other two ladies.

According to Lily, this was her very first product at Rebirth. It was something significant, and she wanted to celebrate with them, so she ordered more to share. Initially, it was just a few glasses, but they turned into a few bottles. By the end, Lily was totally wasted when it came time for them to leave.

Jenny gently patted Lily's face, "Lily, where do you live?"

Jenny needed Lily's address to get her a cab home. Besides, judging from her condition right now, just having her address and sending her off in the cab would not be enough. She needed to make sure Lily got home safely as well. "I-Imperial W-Wills..." Jenny had no idea what Lily had just said, she frowned and looked at Olivia.

Then Jenny moved her head closer to Lily, "What was that?"

"1-Imperial H-Hills." This time it was crystal clear, but Jenny could not believe her ears. "What? Imperial Hills?! Do you know where that is? How are you able to live there? Are you some secret millionaire? You're scaring me," Jenny was stunned and could hardly believe her ears.

However, Olivia was quick to act, realizing that the address Lily had given Jenny was likely Alexander's. It was a high-class residential area, and those who lived there were from a different social hierarchy. A working-class adult could not afford such a place, let alone rent it. The price was just unimaginable.

Jenny was naturally shocked because she did not know Lily's boyfriend. Since Olivia had promised Lily to keep her secret, she promptly stopped Lily from blabbing and offered, "Jenny, I know where she lives. Why don't I send her back instead? It's already late, and you have work tomorrow, so you should probably leave first."

Chapter 234

"Lily just said she lives in..." Jenny still had not recovered from her initial shock "I know, but she was referring to Lake Hills, about two blocks away from Imperial Hills," Olivia replied in a hurry, "Actually, Lily once joked that she wanted to own a place in Imperial Hills. Unsurprisingly, she's repeating this since she's quite wasted now." "I almost had a heart attack!" Jenny sighed in relief, finally accepting Olivia's logical explanation.

"Haha, me too! Wait till she's sober tomorrow. I'll never let her live it down!" Olivia joked.

"Nah, we shouldn't. On second thought, I should come with you. I'm still quite worried about you girls," Jenny said as she flagged a cab. She opened the door for them both and wanted to get into the car as well.

After ensuring Lily was comfortable, Olivia rushed over to stop Jenny from getting into the car, "It's okay. I'll make sure she gets home safely. If you come along, it might be a hassle for you since we'd have to take care of her. You should go home and rest since you're working tomorrow. Don't worry, and I'll text you when we get to Lily's place."

"But..." Jenny hesitated, but she knew Olivia was right. In the end, she gave in and nodded.

"Okay, but please be careful! Just text me if you need help," Jenny reminded them and jotted down the cab's plate number.

When the car sped away, Olivia could finally sigh in relief. She turned toward Lily and was astonished by her behavior. She had worked with Lily for many years but had never seen her in this state. It was unusual for her.

The cab drove them to Imperial Hills but could not enter as the security guards stopped them. Olivia did not know which block Lily lived in, nor did she have Alexander's contact number. The only thing she could do was to wake Lily up.

"Lily, Lily, we're here! Which block do you live in?" Olivia asked as she patted her face gently.

"Ugh... Be quiet!" Lily frowned and cracked her eyes open before closing them again. Olivia was speechless. She thought of looking through Lily's phone, but the cab driver hurried them to get out of his car before she could do that. Olivia had no choice but to help Lily out. She could not fumble for Lily's phone when half of Lily's body was leaning against hers.

"Lily, wake up. We're here! You can continue to sleep once you're home!" Olivia kept trying to wake her up while feeling for Lily's phone. Just then, a car drove by and pulled up next to them.

Olivia stepped in front of Lily and moved them both a few steps back. The car stopped in front of them and lowered one of their windows.

Alexander looked at them with a frown, "What's the meaning of this?" When Olivia saw him, she was relieved, "Mr. Russell! We went out for a drink to celebrate, but Lily had too much to drink, so she's drunk." Olivia could not help but feel afraid when she met Alexander's eyes. She secretly prayed that Lily would wake up, so she did not have to face him alone!

"Get in," Alexander ordered as he got out of the car and took Lily from Olivia's arms. Olivia's body felt lighter, and she sighed, "Um, Mr. Russell, since Lily is home, I'll leave." "You, stay. It's difficult to flag a cab here."

Olivia was surprised that Alexander stopped her from leaving

"1- It's okay. I'll just walk a few minutes to the main road to flag one," she tried her best to convince Alexander that it was not a problem, but he would not take no for an answer. He instructed, "Let Edward send you home." Olivia could only comply.

Chapter 235

That was Olivia's first time seeing how the wealthy lived. The security guards were intimidating the moment she entered. She was also in awe of the house's vast garden, the well-maintained plants, the house's design, and the number of luxury cars Alexander owned. Everything reminded Olivia of how rich Alexander was.

Edward opened the front door as Alexander carried Lily bridal style. Alexander looked skinny but was quite strong. Lily did not seem luring at all for him. Olivia stood frozen at the front porch before rushing into the house after them.

She saw Alexander placing Lily comfortably on the sofa and wanted to get some water for her. However, she did not know where to get water from in this massive house. Next, she wanted to look for a blanket. Well, she did not know where to get that either.

Alexander had already made it his job to ensure he took good care of Lily, so Olivia felt entirely unneeded. She wanted to leave but dared not as Alexander had told her not to. She could only stand on the sidelines awkwardly.

After hesitating, she finally decided to speak up, "Mr. Russell, is it okay if I..."

Alexander briefly glanced at Olivia and instructed, "Edward, make sure she gets home safely."

"I-It's fine. I can get home on my own!" She stole a glance at the quiet Edward and quickly waved her hands to decline Alexander's offer politely. Edward smirked and agreed, "Okay!"

No one considered Olivia's opinion as she watched the exchange between the two men. She had no choice but to listen silently. However, it was also the best option for her safety. After all, it was difficult to flag down a cab around this area so late at night.

"Then I'll take my leave," Olivia glanced at Lily, whose face was red now, "Lily had too much to drink tonight. You should give her some hangover neds if it's not too much of a hassle. That'll make her feel better."

"Okay." Alexander nodded, his gaze fixed on Lily. He did not even bid Olivia farewell when she and Edward were leaving.

“ugh, I’m thirsty,” Lily licked her dried lips and whined.

Alexander was annoyed at how drunk she was and even thought of giving her a spanking, “I’m dying of thirst!” Lily continued to whine as she unknowingly pouted. Alexander continued to stare at her cute antics silently. After a few seconds, he finally stood up and fetched her a glass of water.

He ensured to get Lily a glass of lukewarm water because he knew she had a weak stomach. He supported her into a proper sitting position and moved the glass closer to her lips. Lily instantly downed the water.

Just as she finished, she fell back onto the sofa and complained softly, “What was that? It tasted bad!”

“Lily, don’t push it!” Alexander warned as he lowered the glass onto the table and felt his eyebrow twitch.

Dazed, Lily could hear someone calling her name. She struggled to open her eyes and noticed a silhouette, “A-Alex?” she whispered his name.

“Hmm?” Alex mumbled.

“What took you so long?” Lily got up wobbly. Alexander worried she might fall and hurt herself, so he quickly grabbed Lily and sat beside her.

“I’ve missed you!” Lily hugged him the moment Alexander sat down. He immediately swallowed what he was about to say as his anger subsided by Lily’s sweet gesture.
