Chapter 383

Due to curiosity, Lily leaned over and saw 'Brandon Oakley' on the screen. She looked at Alexander and saw the impatience in his gaze, but still, he answered the call.

"What is it?"

Brandon was stunned, maybe because Alexander looked too severe or his voice was too hostile.

Initially, he had a lot of things to rant about, but he just widened his eyes and could not say anything now.

"Pfft!"

Lily could not suppress it anymore and let out a chuckle. She could see the face of the man on Alexander's screen and found him funny.

The thing was that Brandon called at the wrong time.

Alexander was obviously in a foul mood, so when Brandon requested a video call with him, Lily pitied him.

"You have a woman with you there?"

Brandon had a sharp hearing and could capture Lily's voice, although it was soft. At that moment, his voice seemed to have returned to him as he spoke with the emotion he initially had, rebuking Alexander fiercely, "Alex, there's a woman by your side now! Tanny was right! A vixen seduced you!"

Lily was speechless, while Brandon's words made Alexander even more riled up as he asked solemnly,

"What did you say?"

"Cough! Cough!"

Once again, Alexander managed to scare him, making him keep his mouth shut.

However, Brandon felt that he was being too timid.

‘I am here to avenge my sister! How can I be scared of him?’ Gathering his courage, Brandon braced himself and said again in a righteous tone, "Am I wrong? I dare you to show me your room now! Also, why did you go to Westwood all of a sudden?" Lily narrowed her eyes.

‘We're legally married, okay?’ From the few words exchanged and the name she saw on Alexander’s screen, she could tell that Brandon was probably related to Brittany.

‘Could he be her brother, and he is here to speak for her?’ "Brandon Oakley..." Alexander called out Brandon’s name slowly.

His expression was similar to that of earlier, but his gaze became even colder if possible, sending Goose bumps up Brandon's spine immediately.

Brandon shrank into his seat subconsciously.

"What?"

"Do you want to die?"

Both Brandon and Lily were rendered speechless.

After two seconds of silence, Brandon whined, "Dude! You can't blame me for doing this! You blocked Tanny everywhere. She couldn't find you, so she came to me, crying at my place. I'm getting tired of it. You understand me, right?"

"She's your sister."

"Wow. He sounds like he has no humanity and was not concerned at all"

"You don't have humanity!" Brandon complained.

"We sure think alike" Lily thought again.

"One's humanity only applies to humans," Alexander said casually.

"What do you mean?"

Brandon was confused.

'His humanity is only for humans, but he has none for you. That means he's saying you're not a human. Tsk, I can't believe he said all that just to insult his friend. These days, I've been learning more about how mean he could be, and I'm only grateful that he had never said such things to me before. I would've run away long ago if he did"

"It's nothing. Do you have anything else to say? I'm hanging up if you don't,"

Alexander said, preparing to end the call.

"I do! What should we do about Tanny?

We can't just let her keep crying, can we?

Also, are you going to block her forever?"

Brandon believed that Alexander would not cut off all ties with Brittany forever. At most, he was just tired and wanted some peace for himself.

Brandon understood that Brittany was too spoiled, so letting her learn a lesson was good, but he did not like how he had to be the one she pestered.

"We'll see about that soon," Alexander replied faintly.
