"Forget about it. I know she's a perfumer. Maybe she made the perfume for herself. That's why I can't find it," Brittany said disappointingly.

Arianna shook her head. "Look at you, giving up easily. Why didn't I notice before that you're not persistent in pursuing things you want? I wonder how you chased after Alexander for so many years."

Initially, Brittany knew there was no woman by Alexander's side, and neither in his heart, so she firmly believed she would have a chance, that they were soulmates. However, she noticed how Alexander looked at Lily and instantly lost all the confidence she had gathered for years.

Alexander had never looked at Brittany how he looked at Lily. Not even once.

"Whatever, I can't find it, and I don't know how to make it either!" Brittany self-deprecated. What was she thinking? How could she win a man's heart with a bottle of perfume?

"Are you stupid!" Arianna said while grabbing Brittany, "You don't know how to make perfume, but someone does! Is that woman the only perfumer in this world? She's not the top perfumer, but if you think the perfume might be useful, look for it! Also, you can find someone better to make a better perfume. It's not necessary to have the same perfume as hers."

Brittany had to admit that Arianna's words touched her heart very much. She would have already given up, but when Arianna said this, she started to think again, 'Arianna's right. There were many perfumers other than Lily. There are so many top perfumers, so it's not impossible to get a better perfume. It's just a matter of price.'

"But...it may not necessarily be because of the perfume..." Brittany said hesitantly.

"You said it may not be, but it may be too. You have insisted on it for so long, so you have to take the opportunity to try it. How do you know if it will work if you don't try? Since things have already come to this, you should go for it, am I right?"

Every word of hers made Brittany's hesitation disintegrate bit by bit.

"Do you know any top perfumers?" Brittany asked after some thought.

"I..." After a pause, Arianna said, "You know the Tanner family works in the real estate industry. It has nothing to do with fashion and beauty, so I can't help you with this. You still have to find it yourself. However, it's not difficult to find. You can get anyone to help you if you can afford to pay!"

"You're right!" Brittany nodded vigorously, "As long as I have the chance, I should try it!"

"This is for grandpa. Tell him to light it in his room every night, but don't put it on the bedside," Lily whispered while handing a well-packaged box to Justin.

"Aren't you going to give this to him yourself?" Although Justin said that, he still took the box. "What is it?"

"It's a scented candle for better sleep. I hope it'll be useful for grandpa," Lily sighed.

She had done more research to make this thing than any other perfume she had made. After all, it was for her grandfather. It needed to be suitable for his body and help him. It was only for auxiliary as it was not medicine.

"Take Grandpa to the hospital for a check-up if possible."

Justin put the things in the bag and said lightly, "You should know his temper."

"B-But..."

Before she could speak, Justin suddenly asked again, "When will you and the Russell boy get married?"

Spoiled by Mr. Russell by Luminous Night Chapter 537

"About that..." Justin asked this question so suddenly, and Lily did not expect it, so she hesitated. "We haven't set a date yet."

She had been busy with many things recently, so naturally, she had no time to think about the wedding, not to mention that she and Alexander had already gotten married long ago. The so called ceremony was only for others to see.

"It's okay to be careful." Nodding thoughtfully, Justin thought for a while before asking, "Were you kidnapped when you were in Westwood?"

"I

“What?” It had been a while since the incident, so Lily had almost forgotten about it until Justin brought it up unexpectedly. It meant that there was solid evidence for the incident, so she nodded without denying it. “Yes, but it’s in the past.”

“Why didn’t you tell us?” he asked.

“I could handle it myself.” At that moment, even if she told her family, they could not do anything in time. Moreover, the kidnappers were just common thugs who could not hurt her. While nodding slightly, Justin said, “Now you understand why Grandpa forces you to practice kickboxing, right?”

These two things were quite far-fetched. Lily frowned. “You mean Grandpa knew I would get kidnapped in Westwood many years prior?”

‘What a load of cr*p!’

Justin shook his head resignedly. “I didn’t mean that. You must know that as a member of the Lodge family, you will face all kinds of challenges. You’ve been safe for so long because outsiders don’t know you are from the Lodge family. When your identity is exposed...”

“Then what?”

“Either way, you must be careful and not neglect your training.” After he justified himself, he seemed unwilling to talk more about this matter.

Indeed, it was necessary to practice kickboxing, but listening to his words, did it mean that as a member of the Lodge family, it would be a danger not to practice kickboxing?

Justin answered the phone, probably because he did not have time to chat with her anymore. Lily got out of the car and watched him drive away, hoping the scented candle she made could help her grandfather.

After sending Justin away, Lily rushed to the Skyland Fashion Show because Lisa invited her to her catwalk tonight. She was going to refuse at first, but then she got lucky today. The perfume Lily specially made for Lisa was successful, so she could not wait to bring it to Lisa.

It was an international fashion show, and the models were international supermodels. Among these people, Lisa seemed ordinary as she was not the most outstanding. Nonetheless, she rocked it without showing timidity or nervousness. She walked confidently through the show. and looked dazzling under the lights.

“Lilsy!” Lisa saw Lily when she was on stage but could not call her then. Now, she managed to squeeze out from the crowd and immediately rushed toward Lily, shouting excitedly, “I’m glad you can come to my show!"

"Here's something that makes you even happier!" Lily hugged Lisa and said, "I prepared the thing you wanted."

"Really?!" Lisa said in surprise, "Where is it? Let me try it now."

Lily said smilingly, "If you want to try it, you should find a more suitable place. It's too crowded here."

Lisa repeatedly nodded. "I agree. Please wait for me!"

Just as Lisa turned to walk away, she thought of something and grabbed Lily's hand. "No, come with me!"

She took Lily to the backstage dressing room. Lisa was treated nicely by the organizer, and had a private dressing room. It was so much quieter when they went in and closed the door.

The smell in the room was confusing as it was full of various scents of cosmetics.

"I think it's quite suitable for you. However, I don't know if you'd like it or not." Lily took out a pinkish purple bottle with a ribbon tied around the mouth. "It's not a lot as it's just a preliminary test product. I can adjust it according to your liking, but it needs time!"

"Of course, you must've done well!" Lisa opened it impatiently, sprayed a little on her wrist, and sniffed it.

Lily looked at Lisa's expression as it changed from one of contented happiness to a blank stare, but she said nothing. There was none of the happiness she had before.

Lisa then straightened up and gave Lily a smile. "It's good. I like it!"

"Really?" Lily knew from her expression that Lisa did not like it as much as she said.

"Really!" Nodding forcefully, Lisa insisted, "It smells very comfortable and fragrant. It's the smell I like. I'll say you know me best! By the way, how much should I pay you?"

Lily said while pushing her hand away, "Don't ask about the price, or I'll take it back since I promised to help you. Of course, I couldn't take the money. Next time though, I'll charge!"

Since she said so, Lisa did not argue anymore, so she nodded with a smile. "Okay, then I'll accept it. How about letting me treat you to dinner?"

Lily declined. "I can't make it today since I still have some stuff to do. Let's go another time! You are going to be here for a few more days, right?"

"Two days!" Gesturing with two fingers, Lisa said, "There'll be an awards ceremony tomorrow, and then the event will end."

"Then you'll go back to Westwood immediately?" Lily asked.

"No, I'm going to Kingsland. There's an invitation over there. After that's over, I'll go back."

"Well, there's not much time." Lily thought carefully. "Then, let me treat you to dinner tomorrow night."

"Okay!" Lisa said while nodding decisively, "We can have dinner together tomorrow night, but let me pay for it."

After she had done her job, Lily went straight home. However, she did notice that Lisa did not like the new exclusive perfume very much. Maybe she did not say it out of politeness and courtesy.

It was also normal. The preference for fragrance differed according to the person's sensitivity and sense of smell. Different people like different kinds of fragrances. There were all kinds of fragrances, each with a different audience.

Due to this, it was even harder to make a customized exclusive fragrance. That was because even if it was done well by a top perfumer, the outcome might not necessarily satisfy the customer.

Lisa was not dissatisfied, but she felt that it was not quite what she wanted.

She raised her wrist and sniffed it again. A fresh and elegant rose scent filled her nose. Although it was very fragrant, it made her feel girlish. She always wanted to get rid of that feeling of being a little girl, but no matter if it was her father or Lily, the perfume made for her still had such a smell.

Could it be because the impression she gave others solidified her as a little girl? Did she not grow up at all?

Lisa stuffed the perfume bottle into her bag dejectedly. She was a little disappointed.
