

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 694

"Got it! I understand!" Nathaniel nodded fervently.

Satisfied, Damian opened the door and left the office. Nathaniel's smile faded slowly as he watched the door shut, his expression becoming unreadable.

'This brat is quite cautious! He doesn't trust me completely yet, and there are still things he's keeping from me! However, that scheming mind of his is nothing to me! The Tanner Family will be under my control one day! '

"Mom, aren't you bored with staying at home all day? You should get out of the house and enjoy life more often. There will be an auction in a few days, so why don't I bring you there? You can buy a few things you like." Arianna chatted with her mother while they shopped in a store selling luxury goods.

Eloise's expression was much gloomier. In the past, she could make decisions because everything was still under control.

felt her husband was growing increasingly return home at night, no

there. When Eloise thought about having to see Damian occasionally at home and that she them in the end?" Eloise sighed, her fingertips brushing across the material of the clothes. She was not in the

"You're not acting like the mom I know. My mom has always been confident and charming! Why wouldn't you be able to keep them? You were the best actress of your time, thing. I'm

"E-Excuse me, are you

had a tiny notebook

both nervousness and excitement. It seemed that she

I like you a lot, and I've always felt that it was a pity that you retired from the industry so early. I didn't think that I could meet you here! Could I get an autograph?"