

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 695

Arianna was taken aback and quickly denied it.

"What?! Of course not! It's obvious that your fan planned this. Why would I do this? Besides-"

"Drop the act!" Eloise's gaze was fixated on Arianna as she shook her head.

"Do you think I'm blind? That lady had been staring at us since we entered the door. It was only when you winked at her that she ran over. Even if she was my fan, would she have been so bold to ask for autographs and be so uncourteous? She even harassed the guests. My fans would know the rules. If it's true that you have nothing to do with this, this lady must be new and not know the rules around here!"

After a pause, she continued, "Then again, her ID card doesn't belong to those of the newcomers. Ari, I know you're just being nice, but this is unnecessary. I'm already an old hag. There's no use for all these!"

"I really can't win when it comes to you!" Arianna sighed, shaking her head. "I can't hide anything from you! Why are you letting yourself be in such a position with a brain like yours? Are you going to allow a low-life like that woman to trample all over you? "

Eloise shook her head. "It's not that I'm letting her trample over me. To your father, she's the
