

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 747

"Was it seven?"

Alexander hesitated before speaking again, "You should have been around seven years old at that time?"

He could only guess based on his own age, but he was not entirely sure.

However, he was sure of one thing.

"You came with your parents back then."

"My parents..."

The term had become a thing of the past for Lily. She could barely remember her parents' faces now.

"I have no recollection of it." she shook her head and felt frustrated.

She felt saddened for not being able to remember what her parents looked like and for her vague and almost nonexistent memories.

After her parents passed away, she suffered such a massive blow that she had not remembered much of her past.

Her grandfather told her it was better to forget so that she could move on.

sad for having lost part of her memories that she could never recall, no

how old were you? It's too early for puppy love, don't you was only seven. You wouldn't have fallen for a

you talking flicked Lily's forehead and were an adorable little girl with a radiant smile stared at her face, reached his hand over, and

"...a chubby face."

pinched her. She slapped his hand and asked

Since you remember my parents, what were we doing visiting your my grandmother's birthday, and you guys came to the party, I unwilling to too long. I can't

Alexander could not remember but was reluctant to do so

to the reason, Alexander

understood that everyone had a past they would not like tomorrow. Are

"Yes, of course."

hurriedly but grew nervous again, thinking about the two