

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 748

Damian smirked smugly as the production line churned out finely packaged perfumes one after the other.

They would then enter the market and bring in loads of cash, yet his reward would be much more than this.

It was relatively easy to make money, after all.

His father warned him that running a business was difficult and that he needed to be cautious and learn more.

From how he saw it, though, the old man could not keep up with the times and was too conservative.

If he dared to try, things were not that hard.

The person in charge at the factory reported to him, "Mr.Damian, this batch of perfumes will be ready in another week and could be launched then."

Nodding his head, he said, "Good job! You'll all share the credit at the launch."

"Thank you, Mr.Damian."

"Oh, yes, has Mr.Hall come around here lately?" Damian asked as the thought popped into his head.

"No, he hasn't."

person in charge let

once.He did call twice to give some

shown up

Damian looked upset and sure knows how to only know how to laze around.Do you have an experience like the industry's top players? More like the experience able to kick him out.What if he's a spy sent by Arianna, pretending to be loyal to me? No matter what, I don't trust her.When I take control of the

"Perhaps he's too busy."

wanting to offend anyone,

hard and come

is an important project, and we can't afford anything to walked

me

"yes!"

man quickly instructed someone to package a bottle and bring it

picked up the bottle of fragrance

"All right.I'll get going."

left with the perfume and headed straight for his mother's residence, a house he had lived in his mother