

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 758

That's right, She loved the child and the child's father.

She even loved what destiny had planned, which was ill-timed yet perfect for her.

Love was a simple enough reason to outweigh the cons.

"I'm unprepared and a bit afraid to take the huge responsibility of being a mother, but I can learn to be a great one. If the child is here, it's destiny, and I don't want to take its life for my own selfish reasons."

Her words moved Alexander so much that he embraced her.

"You'll be a terrific mother. The best mom in the whole wide world!"

Noah Richards was having his meal while most of the patrons in the buffet restaurant ate in pairs or with their families, but he was the only one having his meal alone, with not much food on his plate and a bottle of red wine before him. He sat by the floor-to-ceiling windows and looked at the city, enjoying the view.

as the click-clack of high

"Mr. Richards, enjoying the view?"

he put another piece of meat

did not back off,

she took

so boring to eat alone. Why don't

"F*ck off!"

how to turn people away. He had turned countless people away, and up until now, he had been going to have any friends behaving smiled and took a fork to take the

"Put that down!"

her, his face

especially girls, would have backed off or run away in tears whenever I harshly told them to leave, but she didn't leave and even sat down to grab my food!' Arianna smiled, met his stare, slowly put the