

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 797

"That's none of our business," Lily said before closing the door.

Then she sat back down and continued feeding Olivia the porridge.

This industry was chaotic.

The reporters weren't there for any of them, so it was best not to poke their noses into it.

After eating two bowls of porridge, taking a break, and munching on a banana, Olivia thought she heard footsteps outside. She guessed that the reporters must have left and felt more at ease.

"You should rest well these couple of days. There's nothing much in the studio right now, so you don't have to worry. Once you're out, you can continue to rest at home if you like," Lily said.

"Don't you have a new series of themes to come up with? Can you do it on your own?"

Olivia knew of Lisa's request, so she was eager to ensure everything was going well.

the first big project that the studio had, yet to decide on a theme, but I have a rough idea. Give me time to think about it. We'll work on it together once you've settled down and hopefully feel better. I'll leave you with a few tasks, so don't worry! Lily said with a smile. She had already reached out to Lisa's team, past, Lily did not think through experience and countless turmoil that she finally learned her lesson. She was

"You crazy b*tch..."

door was suddenly kicked open, and an angry young man stood at the doorway, startling the two women was inside, the three of them looked got the

he turned and is that

Olivia was stunned.

scare them to death because of his mistake, but he left for his

when she got up to close couldn't remember where she had seen him. She stood at the