

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 812

Deep down, Derrick blamed himself for being too busy at the time.

A father should play an essential role in guiding his son, but Derrick had failed in his duty, and he knew he could not put the blame wholly on another person.

Stephanie, on the other hand, felt chills down her spine.

She had treated Eloise like her own sister, but Eloise had maliciously led her son astray! "Then we should..."

"Wait. The drama is coming to an end soon."

Derrick sighed and said as he quietly looked out the window at the setting sun.

When Arianna got home, she was surprised to see her father sitting in the living room, which he rarely did.

curious frown, she

are you should I be? Anyway, I've tried to have been all over your brother? Shouldn't you went to look handed her jacket to a housekeeper and said solemnly, "Dad, the reporters aren't just all over Damian. They've also stationed themselves at the hospital where Naomi Schiffer is, so there was nothing I could do had made a scene, even if we talk to her and she changes her statement, people would still think she has yielded to quietly, thinking that she was should we

that there's nothing wrong with our perfumes. Dad, I've arranged to send the remaining perfumes to the lab, including the ones just manufactured and some from the last batch. They will

of water and gulped it down in one shot, apparently rush over before they got off work, and I did it personally to ensure nothing would go calmed Joseph down. He let out a sigh of lab result shows nothing wrong, the rumor will end, and we can