

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 822

Damian felt as if he were falling into a bottomless abyss with nothing to hold on to, and even if he managed to grasp something, it was nothing but a poisonous snake.

"Enough! What good would saying that do? We have to come up with a solution!"

Joseph also felt something was amiss but could not tell what it was.

"I'll come up with something, but first, I've got to visit your uncle. He must know the current difficulties the Tanner Corporation is experiencing."

Joseph knew he had to seize the opportunity to tell Derrick about Benedict's death.

If he could take over the Tanner Corporation, he wouldn't need to bother about the old-timers on the board, and perhaps he could turn things around.

More importantly, he could save his son.

With that in mind, he knew he had to leave immediately.
