

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 845

After all, these were still two major shareholders, so she could not be too harsh, lest it was bad news.

Stephanie appeared unassuming, so Arianna had no idea she still had such a ruse up her sleeve. Could it be Derrick who arranged it? She glanced at the man lying on the hospital bed, who was not angry at all. How could he still be able to arrange such a thing?

"Arianna, you can go home. We will notarize when the lawyer comes," Mr. Jackson said.

"You don't trust us?" Mr. Quinn added on.

that be? Both of you are veterans of the company, and I definitely trust you. It's words, Mr. Jackson said, "Don't worry about that. We'll have the doctor do a detailed examination to ensure it's carried out in a conscious condition. Besides, making a will is just in case anything happens. It'll be best if

With a forced smile, Arianna knew there was nothing more she could say, so she could only leave, "Aunt Stephanie, please take good care of Uncle Derrick!" Arianna said meaningfully, but Stephanie gave her an icy more she thought about it. Initially, she believed that everything was in order and that there was no issue at all. She did bribe them now, it would be challenging. The Tanner Corporation has been getting too much attention recently, and every move attracted the media's attention. She could not plan. Although she believed everything was set up perfectly, there were still a few minor errors. Damian was still nowhere nothing about what was happening? Could it be that Damian already went to the heavens, so that's why no one could find out about his whereabouts? He was an uncontrolled variable the car and thinking for a while, she took