"It's me, Noah."

He straightforwardly introduced himself.

"Mr.Richards.What's the matter?"

Lily asked monotonously.

"Why ask when you know the reason I'm calling? Were you responsible for those posts about the Perfumers' Society?"

He did not want to beat around the bush.

After all, there was no point in doing so, as both knew the situation's ins and outs.

Lily smiled, "Are you questioning me? In what capacity are you questioning me? Are you questioning me as the vice president of the Perfumers' Society?"

"It doesn't matter what my status is.You dared to do it but dare not admit it?"

Noah held the phone slightly further and pressed the record button.

"Did I refuse to admit it or say I was the one who did it?"
