

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 863

"That's not it," Nathaniel shook his head and elaborated, "Don't forget that you were the one who wanted this project. My initial suggestion was genuine, as I wanted to ensure the project would succeed.

"However, you insisted on interfering even when you didn't know what you were doing. You were afraid I would take your credit, and since you were so inclined to be a fool, I figured I might as well give you a push!"

Damian was speechless in the face of Nathaniel's mockery, so he turned to face the other side. "What do you want from me now that I'm here? It's not like you can ask for ransom."

Who would still be willing to help Damian at a time like this? Arianna could not wait for him to disappear, and as for Joseph, even if he were willing to pay the ransom, he would not be able to fork out the money.

If Damian did get out, he would still have to pay his dues in prison. He leaned his head against the wall as he felt disheartened.

ago, he was so happy and sure of himself, as if the you're not worth a penny now." Nathaniel smiled. His legs were getting numb as he squatted, so he stood up and stretched.

not the mastermind behind this plan, Damian was pretty walked toward the entrance. He opened the metal gate, allowing sunshine to enter the room. "If you don't advise you to think wisely. If you leave, think of what Nathaniel with suspicion. Nathaniel just stood up. Then he limped toward the exit while bumping into the door. He took the opportunity to rest as he felt feeble, then glanced at position as he waved one of his hands toward the door, signaling to Damian of the situation that awaits you the moment you leave this place. What you'd have