

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 885

Joseph grew agitated when he discovered what Nathaniel had done with Damian. "You... What did you do to Damian?"

"Tsk! Tsk!" Nathaniel chuckled. "So your son is more important to you after all. Haven't I told you? They'll be all right if you do as I say."

Nathaniel had Arianna to thank for nurturing such a good group of henchmen. Her mistake was assuming they would stay loyal to her, not knowing that most people were merely motivated by self-interest. As long as someone served their interest, it did not matter who they worked for.

Tanner Corporation changed leadership almost overnight. Nobody thought the internal struggle within the Tanner family was so intense. While the competing higher-ups wondered which side to choose, Nathaniel had successfully claimed the company's helm.

He had not only garnered the support of many small shareholders, but he also produced a declaration of transfer of shares stamped with both the personal and company seals that were authenticated to be Derrick Tanner's.
