

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 893

"You haven't gotten the shares yet?" Eloise was shocked.

Eloise did not know much about business and could not understand how her son could become the CEO without getting Derrick's shares.

"That old fox is too stubborn, so I need you to persuade him. Now that his son is dead, why should he hold on to the shares? If he wisens up and agrees to the transfer, I'll make him my godfather and take care of him until he dies. He has nothing to lose," Nathaniel said casually.

"Take him as your godfather?" Eloise raised her voice and could hardly believe it. "How could you say such a thing just for money and power?"

"Hal" Nathaniel looked at his mother, amused. "If you could abandon me to marry into a wealthy family, what's wrong with me taking him as my godfather? If he agrees to hand me Tanner Corporation, I can even treat him as my real father!"

on her breath, not expecting her son keep your drama to yourself. Even if you're getting sick, get the agreement signed first. Don't look at me that way. Everything I get will be yours, too, so why get upset? You're not still thinking of giving everything to Arianna, are you? Even the Richards family has cut her loose. Don't deep breath to calm herself while holding the agreement." Where He thought about it and curled his lips. "No, told his secretary he was leaving and brought Eloise downstairs, where an longer recognize her son and asked coldly, have survived if I hadn't and someone blindfolded Eloise scolded, "What is this?! Are you the current situation, I trust no one fine son!" Eloise snarled, but she stopped struggling and sat still. Since she could not see anything and did not want to talk to