

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 921

Alexander headed to the company early the next morning.

His schedule was packed with several important meetings, while Lily was relatively free.

With nothing better to do, she started on the wedding preparations.

Although she wasn't particularly interested in it, she had no choice but to take part since the celebration had already been decided.

This was her way to keep herself occupied while Alexander was busy with work.

The only thing that was a little difficult were the invitations.

Alexander had not introduced her to his family or taken her to the Russell Estate.

He seemed very opposed to his family, so Lily had no idea who or how many people to invite.

She might have been too carefree because she wasn't working and was getting fewer phone calls, which might have caused her to get sick.

When Lily woke up around noon, she was so dizzy that she almost fell getting out of bed. She felt that her vision was blurry as well.

a brief struggle to try to take a shower, she headed downstairs to get something to

out a thermometer

with a reading of 102

fever! "What the h*ll?!" Growing catching a cold

that she would become ill while she was idle?

covered herself up in the comforter when a knock on the door broke her train

"Madame? Madame..."

cautious yet persistent voice

"Are you awake?"

this, Lily frowned and did not want to be disturbed if there was nothing important, even if it was for the

someone outside who wants pause, the maid continued, "She said that she's Mr. Russell's to be his aunt from yesterday is here as her eyes and helplessly looked up need to worry about the invitations at bringing themselves to the

today, his