

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 922

She didn't want to deal with complicated family dynamics, but she knew that by marrying Alexander, it was inevitable.

There were bound to be more situations like these in the future.

Did that mean that she would have to turn to him for help each time? She wanted to stand up for herself so that she could stand shoulder to shoulder with him, even though he pampered and protected her.

To avoid holding him back or causing him to worry about her, she wanted him to know that she could stand up for herself.

After taking a couple of aspirin and drinking another glass of water, Lily felt a little better and had more strength than before.

"Madame, are you feeling better? Do you want to go to the hospital?" The maid asked worriedly.

Lily shook her head.

"Is there any food at home?"

"I've made pumpkin soup and bread. It's still warm. Would you like some?"

"Get me a bowl and leave it on the table to cool. I'll go out right away," she said.

a plate of bread and invite right," the maid

one hand against the table, feeling her legs a little

front of the mirror, she

the end, she put on some makeup

go out

If they act like guests, rude, I'll just

it be?' Outside the door,

was noon, so the sun

for them to expression of impatience became told you. This was the same thing that happened she didn't send us away directly. However, she's taking so long to answer the door. If people knew about our family's affair, we'd be the laughingstock of the town. Surely no grandma would come to visit their Celine snorted unhappily.

accumulated, and Margaret's face

you done?

upset, and Celine's yapping next to her annoyed Margaret