

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 927

Margaret looked fierce but was actually afraid of her husband.

When Hugo was still alive, she dared not say a word.

He was the master of the family, so even if she did not like the eldest daughter-in-law or the grandson, she could not say a word about it.

Hugo decided to entrust them with the family business and would even carefully guide them.

No matter how dissatisfied she was, she could not say anything. She did not possess the authority to speak in this family until Hugo's passing. She wanted to handle everything because she believed she had great power.

However, by then, Alexander had grown up and no longer listened to her, so she disliked him even more. He moved out of the Russell Estate and lived away all these years.

Margaret did not care because he was an eyesore.

However, she could not ignore the fact that he wanted to get married and bring someone into the Russell family.

Margaret arrived intending to slap Lily in the face, but she did not expect Alexander to return and protect her. It was the same as Hugo's way of protecting his daughter-in-law, which enraged her even more.

that I'm stood up and also remember how you treated me, our family, and my parents since old age. Our family is not big, but you have enough children and grandchildren. Go and entertain them, and don't worry too much

"How rude of you!"

fury at the strong insinuation of

can you ensure our family lives comfortably and then have the leisure to do other

as he raised his

not the right time to carry out her felt guilty and hurriedly pulled Margaret away, "Mom, it's been along day today. Your body can't handle it. Why and change your clothes, then put on some ointment. I didn't mean to do that," she hesitated and spoke the most humble attitude she could could she apologize to the younger generation, especially since the argument had nothing to do with her?

Celine," Alexander said with a her head calmly and turned to Margaret, saying, "Mom, let's go home and let them

"Humph!"