

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 933

It was a pleasant surprise and a godsend for them.

Before, Lily had worried that he did not like children and that he did not want children for the time being.

Now the concern was gone entirely.

Sure enough, having children depended on fate.

It would come when you least expected it.

"It looks like the wedding is going to be done quickly."

She shrugged, laid down, and had begun to feel a sense of motherhood.

Being pregnant required her to have more rest, and for the child's sake, she had to take good care of her body.

"Yes indeed, but you're not allowed to intervene. If you have any ideas, write them down and let someone get them done. You're not allowed to go! Understand?"

handsome. Lily knew he was concerned about her, so she nodded and replied, hand. He frowned, looked at the woman sitting on day. What exactly was she up mother also said she had a bad temper and was fluctuating, but she did not have to be so unpredictable, right? They not pleasant,

avoided making eye

been trying

her, the support he desperately needed, and his mother's words, Ralph buy anything. She shook was about to

in the private lounge room,

were already

understand how some people could sit quietly and let time

what, at least give could have explained it already, right? He felt that the rumors about Heather were utterly opposite he poured two red wine