

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 951

In Eudora, there was a private manor that took up smaller than the average land size of a typical manor.

Since it was far from the city, it lacked development opportunities, so the housing price was low and the population sparse.

Only a few people here knew who the manor belonged to.

Heather's car was arriving, and when it came to a complete stop, a maid came over and opened the door for her.

She exited the vehicle and threw the keys to the maid, who then went to park the car in the garage while Heather walked into the house.

"Ms. Riggs, welcome back," another maid greeted her as soon as she entered the house.

She then bent over with a pair of slippers and helped Heather change into them carefully.

Another one came over to help her remove her coat and change her clothes.

Everything went smoothly, and Heather seemed to be used to this routine. She just opened her arms and let them serve her.

A moment later, she squinted her eyes and asked, "Where is she?"

"Ms. Hannah is in her room," one of the maids answered softly.

"Okay."
