

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 993

Ralph chuckled and seemed proud of himself.

"You underestimated my family, Ms. Riggs. The house looks no different from ordinary houses apart from being very large, but the top security company in the country handles our security systems.

"We have cameras, infrared and other mechanisms all over the place. You can rest assured as you are safe."

Ralph thought of something after he finished speaking and added, "If you don't like to live here, we can move out.

"We can buy a house you like. Just the two of us. What do you think?"

He slid his hand from her shoulder to her collarbone and then down.

Heather stopped his hand in time and smirked.

"Is that so?"

giving Ralph a chance to continue bragging, "Then how come I heard there was a know about it, especially since his family had immediately hidden the

was none the wiser about the knew about it. He did not have the time to think about it and laughed dryly, "Y-You're very well informed! Ralph bent down and whispered beside Heather's ears, "It's just a few petty her since he did not know what Heather meant by

to break the engagement or if she was expressing eyebrows and moved petty thieves can infiltrate your top-level security system. It looks like these thieves are not that simple, or is did not expect her to question him and contacted the security company and plan to terminate our contract. I'll ask them immediately turned and looked safety at all times.You should know that my family is a kickboxing family.I feel I can give you better advice in this regard.Maybe you can consider the Riggs family's security measures and change the security guards to the Riggs

"T-That's"